119	I did not notice any issues such as the ones listed. People generally wait in line in an orderly manner and clean up after themselves. There are occasional litter	Aug 22, 2012 11:38 AM

Q3. If you answered yes to Question #2, where was the food truck parked?

	bugs, but I believe in punishing the individuals who are being irresponsible with their trash, rather than the food trucks themselves. They make every effort to provide receptacles for both garbage and recyclables. Some even offer compost bins.
120	I usually attend the food trucks on California as it is right near my office. It is very accessible.	Aug 22, 2012 10:07 AM
121	Yes	Aug 22, 2012 9:55 AM
122	There should be a map of all food truck locations for a specific city, like sunnyvale.	Aug 21, 2012 8:42 AM
123	The food truck is easily accessible	Aug 20, 2012 2:08 PM
124	The food trucks I've been to never seem to be parked around convenient seating areas, so I typically have to eat either in the car, sitting on the sidewalk, or standing.	Aug 19, 2012 11:20 PM
125	None	Aug 18, 2012 5:14 PM

181	We have a mix of trucks and some park on our property while others park on a cul-de-sac type of area, neither of which create a traffic issue	Aug 8, 2012 7:35 AM
182	Yes. There is loads of room near our office park on Ross drive. This is the ONLY close eating establishment for our employees. It is imperative to our employee morale and productivity to have them come to us. We also have a Farmers Market truck providing organic local fruit and veggies. This is a key element to our company Wellness program. Taking this from us will be significant and limit our ability to bring and keep key and good talent. We are not big enough to have a cafeteria on site, and we have worked hard to get the trucks to come to us. Please do not erode this valuable benefit for us.	Aug 8, 2012 7:28 AM

247	The truck was at the dump.	Jul 30, 2012 1:17 PM
248	Yes, in all instances the food truck has been easily accessible.	Jul 30, 2012 1:03 PM
249	I have seen a food truck (taco truck) on El Camino, between Mathilda and Fair Oaks. I think it would impede traffic flow on El Camino if a lot of people started stopping there for food.	Jul 30, 2012 1:02 PM
250	not really- was hard to find but we tracked it down! Was behind a building.	Jul 30, 2012 12:52 PM
251	It has become more difficult as they no longer stop in our parking lot but one a couple of blocks away, so we have to be aware of the time, rather than looking out the window.	Jul 30, 2012 11:57 AM
252	Yes, no particular problems.	Jul 30, 2012 11:49 AM
253	Yes	Jul 30, 2012 11:11 AM
254	yes	Jul 30, 2012 10:41 AM

Q3. If you answered yes to Question #2, where was the food truck parked?

255	NO issues at all.	Jul 30, 2012 10:39 AM
256	Yes. I would like an area to sit around the food truck to eat, rather than sitting on the curb.	Jul 30, 2012 10:34 AM
257	The food truck operators seem to have a very good sense of courteous, accessible locations to park.	Jul 30, 2012 10:33 AM

272	Yes	Jul 25, 2012 6:39 PM

Q4. Have you been to a special event with a cluster of food trucks, such as the “Off the Grid” and “Moveable Feast” events throughout the bay area?

1	The food choices and quality was better than chain restaurants.	Dec 4, 2012 4:18 PM
2	Similarity in the trucks menu. No need for the same type of food from multiple trucks/vendors.	Nov 13, 2012 11:17 AM
3	I like that there was one spot for all of the trucks giving us great choices for great food at affordable prices! Plus it creates a little buzz to the community.	Nov 4, 2012 10:35 AM
4	The Moveable Feast events have seemed very well organized.	Nov 1, 2012 12:09 PM
5	liked lots of food truck choices	Oct 31, 2012 5:56 PM
6	The long lines were a pain, but that's a function of the event's popularity.	Oct 30, 2012 9:00 PM
7	Liked the options and atmosphere! Disliked the parking drama.	Oct 30, 2012 8:42 PM
8	I have been to food truck events at the San Mateo Caltrain station. I liked the wide selection of food.	Oct 30, 2012 8:18 AM
9	Variety. Lots of variety	Oct 29, 2012 11:17 AM
10	I loved having my choice of several trucks at the Lakewood School Fall Festival.	Oct 27, 2012 2:52 PM
11	lots of food trucks in one place. a chance to try many different things. I did not like the limited menus.	Oct 25, 2012 1:37 PM
12	Loved the varitey of different food available at one spot	Oct 25, 2012 1:08 PM
13	Liked the community aspect of it and the ease of finding a multitude of different food options all in one place.	Oct 25, 2012 12:52 PM
14	Variety of trucks.	Oct 25, 2012 12:51 PM
15	HATE the usual "pay $10 just to get access to the trucks that you usually get to for free" fee. Don't mind paying for food.	Oct 25, 2012 12:37 PM
16	I liked the ability to try new foods without having to travel far or make reservations. It's very spontaneous.	Oct 25, 2012 11:31 AM
17	Like: lots of food options where I can pick 1-2 items from each truck Dislike: not enough places to sit and eat	Oct 25, 2012 11:30 AM
18	variety	Oct 25, 2012 11:21 AM
19	I thought it was a great idea	Oct 25, 2012 11:20 AM
20	Variety	Oct 25, 2012 11:19 AM
21	Multiple trucks in one location so you have options	Oct 25, 2012 11:18 AM
22	Great opportunity for everyone in our family to try different types of food! Also it gave us the opportunity to explore a new area and shop at the local small businesses that we would not have necessarily gone to.	Oct 25, 2012 11:15 AM

Q4. Have you been to a special event with a cluster of food trucks, such as the “Off the Grid” and “Moveable Feast” events throughout the bay area?

23	I liked the food options, but disliked the large crowds and lines.	Oct 25, 2012 10:48 AM
24	loved it!	Oct 25, 2012 10:48 AM
25	Loved the variety of foods you can have in one location	Oct 25, 2012 10:44 AM
26	Great food selection. Get to meet new people.	Oct 25, 2012 10:40 AM
27	lakewood school walk a thon	Oct 20, 2012 5:32 PM
28	I like the verity of chooses you have	Oct 12, 2012 9:17 PM
29	Likes: Food, area, entertainment Dislikes: Need more events in Sunnyvale	Oct 9, 2012 12:37 PM
30	Selection	Oct 7, 2012 8:53 PM
31	Just liked it	Oct 4, 2012 8:31 PM
32	I like the fact that these events can offer a variety of food not typically found in the city. I find that there is not too much of a variety of food available with the number of restaurants in Sunnyvale right now.	Sep 18, 2012 10:46 AM
33	Not much variety. Lack of quality. The event seems very restricted.	Sep 16, 2012 11:08 PM
34	There was nothing I disliked. It was AWESOME! Great food, great music, lots of parking, cool people. It was great.	Sep 13, 2012 6:45 PM
35	I like everything and dislike nothing. Its great!	Sep 13, 2012 4:24 PM
36	Social event and great for office team building events	Sep 12, 2012 11:43 AM
37	Great choice of vendors good food	Sep 10, 2012 10:59 AM
38	I've been to multiple Moveable Feast events. I like the variety of food options and even though it's just buckets, that seating is provided. I don't like it when there are zero vegetarian options at any of the trucks, doesn't happen often though.	Sep 7, 2012 3:53 PM
39	Lots of interesting food choices	Sep 7, 2012 9:56 AM
40	I love these events. I bring the whole family and friends. I've never had a bad experience (well, sometimes the lines are long for the more popular trucks). Stocklmeir School has a yearly fundraising event with food trucks. It seems to go very smoothly.	Sep 6, 2012 10:54 PM
41	It was a great way to find out about new trucks. However, with so many people, the lines are long and there may not be enough toilets.	Sep 4, 2012 10:49 AM
42	Great collection of food from different parts of the world	Sep 2, 2012 10:27 AM
43	So many foodtrucks, so many different meals to choose from. Very diverse crowd, musicians playing too.	Sep 2, 2012 9:23 AM
44	Food varities within an area.restroom.	Sep 1, 2012 3:32 PM

45	Hard to find parking in parts of SF.	Sep 1, 2012 10:48 AM
46	Loved it!	Sep 1, 2012 8:41 AM
47	The variety of food, the fragrance of food, bringing food we normally wouldn't see	Sep 1, 2012 7:35 AM
48	Attended an event in Milpitas. Loved that a section of the parking lot was sectioned off for the event - similar to what Sunnyvale does for the Saturday farmers market.	Aug 31, 2012 4:20 PM
49	Good food, sense of community.	Aug 31, 2012 3:47 PM
50	liked the variety, didn't like that there were very limited places to sit & eat	Aug 31, 2012 12:27 PM
51	Loved the variety of foods as each member of my family wanted something different. It was a fun atmosphere. Lots of families. It was like a food event that didn't cost a fortune. Didn't have to worry about dressing up.	Aug 31, 2012 10:44 AM
52	Multiple options in one location; novelty	Aug 31, 2012 7:45 AM
53	Liked: good traffic flow into site, adequate parking, cleanliness at the end of the event Disliked: opposite of the stuff in Liked... :)	Aug 31, 2012 3:53 AM
54	Loved the atmosphere and relaxed casual vibe. So hard to find elsewhere in the Bay Area.	Aug 30, 2012 9:52 PM
55	Love the different types of food, trying EVERYTHING!	Aug 30, 2012 8:33 PM
56	Nothing, parking is a problem.	Aug 30, 2012 7:24 PM
57	It's a nice change from what's usually available to eat in the nearby area. Usually more creative food options and a nice outdoor experience.	Aug 30, 2012 7:24 PM
58	I like the variety and creativity that comes with food trucks.	Aug 30, 2012 7:08 PM
59	great variety of food. interesting people. seating and heat lamps provided.	Aug 30, 2012 4:36 PM
60	I dislike that Sunnyvale doesn't have such an event as Moveable Feast. I like that fact that I'm supporting a small business like the food trucks and that their popularity has sparked a new sense of community or bringing a community together, ie., MF Willow Glen.	Aug 30, 2012 3:42 PM
61	I liked the collection of choices all located in one place. I disliked that there was no place to sit other than the curb, but then what can one really expect of food truck cuisine?	Aug 30, 2012 3:17 PM
62	I liked the collection of choices all located in one place. I disliked that there was no place to sit other than the curb, but then what can one really expect of food truck cuisine?	Aug 30, 2012 3:17 PM
63	This is fun. A great compliment to Farmers Markets.	Aug 30, 2012 2:05 PM

64	Variety.	Aug 30, 2012 12:27 PM
65	I loved it! Very convenient and made some vivid mood.	Aug 30, 2012 7:49 AM
66	Nothing, I loved it	Aug 29, 2012 11:29 PM
67	variety of food; small business concept good	Aug 29, 2012 8:20 PM
68	Great atmosphere and food but very crowded	Aug 29, 2012 6:14 PM
69	I liked the diversity of food choices and the energetic feel of the patrons.	Aug 29, 2012 5:25 PM
70	Navigation in crowds was difficult. Looked like they did not anticipate the number of people who came. A larger area would have been much better.	Aug 29, 2012 4:39 PM
71	San Jose; Willow Glen; San Francisco; Union City	Aug 29, 2012 3:33 PM
72	Likes More choices, seating Dislike distance from sunnyvale	Aug 29, 2012 3:14 PM
73	Trash handling had not been thought of.	Aug 29, 2012 1:39 PM
74	I really like them. The only thing I dislike is that other people like them so much!	Aug 29, 2012 1:23 PM
75	generally these events are at 5/6pm. Would be nice if they were during lunch as well	Aug 29, 2012 12:30 PM
76	I like having a variety of food types to choose from all in one location. When I can get a BBQ appetizer, a indian curry main dish and a Thai Ice Tea to wash it down, that is a pretty fun meal. :)	Aug 29, 2012 12:12 PM
77	Liked having a lot of variety of foods to choose from, but did not like the lack of seating.	Aug 29, 2012 11:28 AM
78	I liked the events. Food truck options are way better than typical event food (nachos, popcorn, hotdogs, candy, etc.).	Aug 29, 2012 10:03 AM
79	increased prices for these events	Aug 29, 2012 10:01 AM
80	had a good variety of food	Aug 29, 2012 9:26 AM
81	Love them!	Aug 29, 2012 9:23 AM
82	The variety of offerings, the festive atmosphere, the introduction of new trucks.	Aug 29, 2012 8:45 AM
83	Dislike - no table or chairs	Aug 29, 2012 2:46 AM
84	I liked the variety of food choices, festive & fun atmosphere. I disliked the longer lines & sometimes it was harder to find parking, but that depends on the location.	Aug 29, 2012 12:32 AM
85	Too small of an enclosed area for so many people.	Aug 28, 2012 10:24 PM
86	Accessibility to great food	Aug 28, 2012 9:49 PM

87	nothing	Aug 28, 2012 9:49 PM
88	liked	Aug 28, 2012 9:39 PM
89	good variety	Aug 28, 2012 9:07 PM
90	Lobstah roll	Aug 28, 2012 8:50 PM
91	Food truck options	Aug 28, 2012 8:25 PM
92	Like the variety. Wish there w more seating areas	Aug 28, 2012 8:12 PM
93	More frequency n south bay	Aug 28, 2012 8:02 PM
94	I love the friendly people and the variety of food I can purchase...	Aug 28, 2012 7:05 PM
95	I love it as it offers me many choices and Moveable Feasts organizes them well at places with plenty of parking	Aug 28, 2012 6:54 PM
96	Great way for family to try different foods.	Aug 28, 2012 6:02 PM
97	I love the variety of choices. I like seeing so many people embracing it and gathering together to look and act like a community. Everyone bonds over food.	Aug 28, 2012 5:17 PM
98	I like all the different food choices such it's Mexican American indian Korean chinesse all with high quality qualified chezf	Aug 28, 2012 5:11 PM
99	LOVED it!!	Aug 28, 2012 5:09 PM
100	crowds, inadequate parking	Aug 28, 2012 5:09 PM
101	I loved the availability of delicious food at affordable prices so I could sample more varieties. I disliked having to drive to Willow Glen or SF.	Aug 28, 2012 5:03 PM
102	Love the variety of food to choose from!	Aug 28, 2012 4:49 PM
103	Parking limited. Not enough variety	Aug 28, 2012 4:38 PM
104	Liked the variety of food, quality, and fun atmosphere. Would have liked more parking and places to sit.	Aug 28, 2012 4:36 PM
105	Loved it! Great way to support small businesses and enjoy the great weather and great food by inspired chef's! Area's were clean, had to bring our own sitting apparatus but that was part of the appeal. Gourmet food while sitting on a bucket! Fantastic!	Aug 28, 2012 4:26 PM
106	I loved having so many food truck choices in one location!	Aug 28, 2012 4:09 PM
107	fun time, fun crowds, great inexpensive food	Aug 28, 2012 4:02 PM
108	I think it's called Garden City in SJ...	Aug 28, 2012 3:52 PM
109	Loved it all. Only dislike it was in San Jose. I love Sunnyvale and want them	Aug 28, 2012 3:46 PM here.

110	The variety of food choices available.	Aug 28, 2012 3:42 PM
111	I loved having so many options.	Aug 28, 2012 3:35 PM
112	I liked the amazing variety of foods.	Aug 28, 2012 3:35 PM
113	Liked the variety of food available	Aug 28, 2012 3:12 PM
114	Love the variety of foods and flavors	Aug 28, 2012 3:11 PM
115	I always liked the selection of food trucks available. The one thing I didn't like was I sometimes had to drive really far to get to an event.	Aug 28, 2012 3:06 PM
116	Lot of selection. Fun environment.	Aug 28, 2012 2:52 PM
117	loved the variety.	Aug 28, 2012 2:48 PM
118	the one I was at was pretty crowded. it would have been nice to have more room.	Aug 28, 2012 2:48 PM
119	Variety, awesome food, awesome selection	Aug 28, 2012 2:47 PM
120	Lines are sometimes long.	Aug 28, 2012 2:44 PM
121	I love having a lot of food options all in one place. I also like the social aspect of it.	Aug 28, 2012 2:43 PM
122	One area, many choices. Seating or space was an issue on some locations, however, they seem to improve each time.	Aug 28, 2012 2:42 PM
123	It was a lot of fun to try all the food and great to meet people in the community	Aug 28, 2012 2:41 PM
124	Slow Food fair in Oakland	Aug 28, 2012 2:40 PM
125	lots of variety in a single place. good way to support local businesses. yummy food!	Aug 28, 2012 2:38 PM
126	Liked variety of trucks, location Disliked crowds, parking, lack of seating (buckets don't count)	Aug 28, 2012 2:37 PM
127	I like the variety of food	Aug 28, 2012 2:36 PM
128	I went to the moveable feast on a Friday night. I did not like that there was not many healthy options. There were a couple trucks with healthy options and they sold out while I was in the line. We have not been to one since because of my dietary needs. I would return if more healthy options were available and publicized.	Aug 28, 2012 2:35 PM
129	I like having many choices in one spot	Aug 28, 2012 2:33 PM
130	My only real complaint with these events is that I have to compete with other	Aug 28, 2012 2:33 PM potential customers for these food trucks.

131	love the food, hate the un-organized lines	Aug 28, 2012 2:31 PM
132	the lines can be long, but each event is better organized and a better experience each time.	Aug 28, 2012 2:30 PM
133	So many choices and a great way for people to get out and socialize.	Aug 28, 2012 2:29 PM
134	like: the new food trucks and food dislike: not enough seating	Aug 28, 2012 2:27 PM
135	Movable Feast Garden City Saturdays	Aug 28, 2012 2:27 PM
136	For the truck events, there is generally a community feel to it. People bring kids, camp chairs, or blankets, and picnic. Palo Alto's Edgewood Eats events, even though they were held on a blacktop, had a huge number of neighbors as well as people who worked nearby but would stop in on the way home for the variety.	Aug 28, 2012 2:26 PM
137	I liked the variety of food trucks that was there.	Aug 28, 2012 2:26 PM
138	I thought it was great! The only problem was how popular it was.	Aug 28, 2012 2:26 PM
139	just the long lines	Aug 28, 2012 2:26 PM
140	Loved variety of trucks and open space, especially the ones in SF	Aug 28, 2012 2:20 PM
141	Like the variety of trucks. Dislike the lack of seating or shade.	Aug 28, 2012 2:18 PM
142	Love the variety that I saw. Great place to just hang out.	Aug 28, 2012 2:16 PM
143	I go weekly! A great opportunity to try new food!	Aug 28, 2012 2:16 PM
144	I love the variety of good food you get. I feel like the people that run these trucks really care about the food they serve and aren't scared to experiment	Aug 28, 2012 2:15 PM
145	better when a parking lot is available	Aug 28, 2012 2:13 PM
146	The options with the different trucks	Aug 28, 2012 2:12 PM
147	I love the massive gathering of trucks, with tons and tons of food options.	Aug 28, 2012 2:12 PM
148	Easy ability to try many items. Family friendly.	Aug 28, 2012 2:10 PM
149	Love food trucks!!!	Aug 28, 2012 2:10 PM
150	Loved the variety, the buzz in the crowd and getting to try different foods.	Aug 28, 2012 2:08 PM
151	love all of it.	Aug 28, 2012 2:07 PM
152	I frequently go to Moveable Feast events -- I love the food and the fun atmosphere. I always prefer when it is in a location with plenty of room to stand and lots of parking. (like the moveable feast Willow Glen on Fridays)	Aug 28, 2012 2:07 PM

153	I liked the "one-stop-shopping" and variety afforded with the Moveable Feast at Garden City	Aug 28, 2012 2:05 PM
154	I like having the variety of choices and it's dependable of when and where it will be. I usually attend the one on Saturday afternoon on Saratoga Avenue in San Jose.	Aug 28, 2012 2:04 PM
155	It's fun for thw family and there is so much variety in the food offered	Aug 28, 2012 2:04 PM
156	I loved all the options. My fam had a chance to eat different things	Aug 28, 2012 2:02 PM
157	i like everything about it	Aug 28, 2012 2:01 PM
158	Love that all trucks are in one space. Easy access and a fun, festive atmosphere.	Aug 28, 2012 1:59 PM
159	Good selection of food and liked community feel.	Aug 28, 2012 1:59 PM
160	I liked the variety of trucks, its nice to have a rolling list of trucks that could be rotated any given day. It would be nice to have a better way of knowing where they will be at a given time, breakfast, lunch, dinner.	Aug 28, 2012 1:58 PM
161	Lots of variety of food choices in one place	Aug 28, 2012 1:58 PM
162	good food	Aug 28, 2012 1:58 PM
163	loved the ability to try lots of different yummy foods I may not have in a restaurant, especially all at once.	Aug 28, 2012 1:56 PM
164	Too many people waiting in line.	Aug 28, 2012 1:56 PM
165	Loved the quality and variety	Aug 28, 2012 1:55 PM
166	The food and the atmosphere were awesome	Aug 28, 2012 1:54 PM
167	So many people!!!! But the food was yum	Aug 28, 2012 1:54 PM
168	Love the community feel about it, Love the food! Love the different options of foods available.	Aug 28, 2012 1:54 PM
169	Love the event and the variety of trucks that come out. Each time, it is a different meal.	Aug 28, 2012 1:54 PM
170	LOVE this type of event. Like the assortment and variety - the more trucks, the better! Fun to meet up with friends and family.	Aug 28, 2012 1:52 PM
171	I really enjoyed having the variety of food trucks.	Aug 28, 2012 1:52 PM
172	I liked the variety of trucks and the interaction with new people. You meet many people.	Aug 28, 2012 1:51 PM
173	amount of choices	Aug 28, 2012 1:51 PM

174	lines too long! food great though!	Aug 28, 2012 1:51 PM
175	Nice that all the family can choose different types of foods if they wish. Lots of sociable people around.	Aug 28, 2012 1:51 PM
176	I liked being able to sample many different trucks and interact with other foodies.	Aug 28, 2012 1:50 PM
177	i liked the variety of food options and the fairly inexpensive cost	Aug 28, 2012 1:49 PM
178	I live in Santa Clara, and my family and I often frequent Movable Feast events. We love the atmosphere, the opportunity to meet new people, and (of course) the food is AMAZING.	Aug 28, 2012 1:48 PM
179	Liked the central location, the options and choice of food. Local businesses also thrive on increased business due to the high volume of exposure and people in the area.	Aug 28, 2012 1:48 PM
180	Great food, unique atmosphere, inexpensive.	Aug 27, 2012 1:30 PM
181	Nice to have a variety of offerings and brings the community together outdoors.	Aug 27, 2012 11:12 AM
182	love being able to try more than 1 truck at a time. festive atmosphere.	Aug 27, 2012 10:18 AM
183	These are awesome events which allow one to try many different types of food rather than having to track down trucks individually.	Aug 27, 2012 8:38 AM
184	I like the culture and the options. I wish they had more seating available. Maybe some more permanent structures as in soma street food park in SF.	Aug 27, 2012 8:09 AM
185	It was great and nice to go out and be able to have a variety of different food to eat.	Aug 27, 2012 8:02 AM
186	Fun, community building event!	Aug 26, 2012 8:39 PM
187	Parking was tough, long lines but the food was awesome and worth the wait.	Aug 26, 2012 7:22 PM
188	Loved the variety ad uniqueness of the food. Lots fun	Aug 26, 2012 5:15 PM
189	I like the variety. There will always be something interesting.	Aug 24, 2012 10:33 PM
190	I enjoyed the concept of many foods at one place and that it brought together the community + music. I disliked the lack of variety of foods. For example, I thought there were too many asian and indian trucks.	Aug 24, 2012 8:16 AM
191	Slow service, long wait on each line, trash around the trucks	Aug 23, 2012 5:06 PM
192	Varied choices and delicious casual food in an environment conducive to meeting people.	Aug 23, 2012 4:49 PM
193	like everything about off the grid!!	Aug 23, 2012 8:12 AM
194	The variety of food	Aug 22, 2012 8:21 PM

195	Loved it.	Aug 22, 2012 8:13 PM
196	I liked the variety of different foods in one place.	Aug 22, 2012 5:42 PM
197	Good selection of food. Organization group provided shade tents and improvised seating.	Aug 22, 2012 4:13 PM
198	Good variation of people, light, festive atmosphere	Aug 22, 2012 3:50 PM
199	Too many people. Nice variety tho.	Aug 22, 2012 3:11 PM
200	loved the fact that its a pleasant social event centered around good food	Aug 22, 2012 3:03 PM
201	Too many people and super long lines!	Aug 22, 2012 1:23 PM
202	Good to be able to choose from various trucks in one location, sometimes parking is an issue.	Aug 22, 2012 12:05 PM
203	Good variety	Aug 22, 2012 11:42 AM
204	I love Moveable Feast and usually attend at least once a week at various locations. The variety of food trucks is the best part, but other perks include: good value for money, the chance to spend some time outside, and the vibrant atmosphere. Food has a way of bringing people together—Moveable Feast is a great example of what a melting pot the Bay Area is. Where else can you get Korean fusion tacos next to a stand selling authentic Cajun cuisine?	Aug 22, 2012 11:38 AM
205	Great food, all in one place - and without extra travel.	Aug 22, 2012 10:38 AM
206	I like the variety and the energy. Parking is usually a problem.	Aug 22, 2012 10:07 AM
207	I loved having a variety of options in one place, so you can get one thing from one spot, and another from another truck.	Aug 22, 2012 9:55 AM
208	Lots of trucks in one place is very convenient	Aug 22, 2012 9:20 AM
209	I like the variety. Not a fan of the huge long lines at some trucks.	Aug 22, 2012 8:20 AM
210	LOVE LOVE LOVE these. Create vibrant communities and areas for the city. Edgewood Eats in Palo Alto was such a social scene. When there are trucks in Redwood city it really enthuses downtown with energy on an otherwise sleepy evening.	Aug 21, 2012 10:08 PM
211	I like that it's practically a moving food court. I dislike the inadequate seating and obnoxious people who don't behave politely.	Aug 21, 2012 5:12 PM
212	Great, we need to encourage more locally.	Aug 20, 2012 5:37 PM
213	A place where people can meet up and spend quality outdoor time together	Aug 19, 2012 11:48 PM
214	No chairs or tables	Aug 18, 2012 5:14 PM
215	Loved the variety	Aug 18, 2012 4:53 PM

216	Enjoyed variety of gourmet as well as the family friendly environment.	Aug 18, 2012 3:39 PM
217	i like being able to have my favorites and being able to try something new, and using the buckets as chair gives it a fun picnic type feel	Aug 18, 2012 10:38 AM
218	I've attended a few Moveable Feast locations, and I like the variety of trucks to choose from, and that seating is provided by the organizers or available in the surrounding area.	Aug 17, 2012 1:10 PM
219	loitering, trash, and noise.	Aug 17, 2012 8:51 AM
220	liked the variety of food available in a small area.	Aug 16, 2012 3:26 PM
221	New takes by food truck chefs. Delicious old favorites. Variety. All good. The bad, too many people, some lines are 30min long while others have no one. Not enough space to sit and eat, or stand and eat.	Aug 14, 2012 8:26 PM
222	I have attended several in the East Bay. I like these events because it provides a relatively inexpensive and fun way for my family to "eat out," an opportunity to sample new foods and visit with other foodies. The best events are those with lots of trucks and in a parking lot with trees, or near a park. Often hard to find a table/chairs and the lots can be hot for sitting and eating.	Aug 14, 2012 1:19 PM
223	It's a great opportunity to try different foods in a fun and friendly atmosphere. It's a fun social event.	Aug 14, 2012 11:56 AM
224	Large variety, good location, lots of parking, good to meet friends there.	Aug 14, 2012 10:01 AM
225	Organized and a % of the profits went to a charity.	Aug 14, 2012 9:40 AM
226	- Available seating and shade - Convenience of having a centralized meeting location - Parking is sometimes an issue	Aug 14, 2012 8:43 AM
227	Fun, social, unique foods	Aug 14, 2012 1:53 AM
228	Attended an event an Montalvo. I liked that it offered different food for different people. I also enjoy the food vendors at the farmers market.	Aug 13, 2012 7:12 PM
229	Like- the great food at reasonable prices and amazing variety. Dislike the long lines and that I have to drive to Willow Glenn for the really good ones.	Aug 13, 2012 6:25 PM
230	I went to Moveable Feast, enjoyed the variety and the casual atmosphere.	Aug 13, 2012 5:05 PM
231	Great food, easy access, different than usual choices	Aug 13, 2012 4:18 PM
232	We go to Moveable Feast at least once a week and love it. We would love to see something similar in Sunnysvale!	Aug 13, 2012 2:26 PM
233	variety	Aug 13, 2012 2:18 PM
234	Variety of options was great; would have been nice if these types of events had venues closer to Sunnyvale.	Aug 13, 2012 1:26 PM

235	Love that there's sooo many options in one place. It brings a sense of community.	Aug 13, 2012 12:03 PM
236	Lots of fun, good variety. Not enough places to sit. Long lines at the good trucks	Aug 13, 2012 9:57 AM
237	Community gathering, good food	Aug 13, 2012 9:37 AM
238	Liked the variety. Disliked how long the lines were (waited 30 minutes for food)	Aug 13, 2012 9:28 AM
239	Food trucks parked too close together, creating a mess of lines for each truck.	Aug 13, 2012 9:12 AM
240	I like it because we have a lot different kind of food to choose from and can get at one place/spot.	Aug 12, 2012 7:20 AM
241	I like the variety of trucks, community of people who are event regulars, good food.	Aug 10, 2012 5:18 PM
242	They are usually fairly crowded, but everyone seemed to be polite and cleaned up after them selves.	Aug 10, 2012 12:37 PM
243	variety of foods is nice	Aug 10, 2012 11:53 AM
244	Liked the food quality and selection. Disliked the long lines and lack of line queueing.	Aug 10, 2012 9:03 AM
245	"Off the grid" is a great event. They make sure to have it in an area designated by the city that won't impact street traffic and is easily accessible and safe for pedestrians.	Aug 10, 2012 8:54 AM
246	Trash; crowds, jostling to get to food trucks; trucks parked too close to each other.	Aug 10, 2012 8:51 AM
247	Love the flexibility & choice!	Aug 10, 2012 8:49 AM
248	Liked everything about it. Good food, lots of variety, great for going with groups of people.	Aug 10, 2012 8:45 AM
249	I love these events. They are fun, casual, and a great way to reflect the diversity of our amazing City!	Aug 10, 2012 7:46 AM
250	Fantastic! It is great to be able to have fantastic food at events that previously would have had nothing.	Aug 9, 2012 7:36 PM
251	Very cool and fun.	Aug 9, 2012 5:39 PM
252	Just kinda cool & different	Aug 9, 2012 5:28 PM
253	Great food. Met great people.	Aug 9, 2012 3:58 PM
254	I liked the fact that they were all gathered in one place and easily accessible.	Aug 9, 2012 2:48 PM
255	Loved all the choices and the live music.	Aug 9, 2012 1:22 PM

Q4. Have you been to a special event with a cluster of food trucks, such as the “Off the Grid” and “Moveable Feast” events throughout the bay area?

256	Love the atmosphere.	Aug 9, 2012 10:18 AM
257	Nothing.	Aug 9, 2012 8:30 AM
258	Great selection of food, a sense of community, and supporting small businesses.	Aug 8, 2012 10:59 PM
259	variety of food + dessert for an economical fee	Aug 8, 2012 9:35 PM
260	Mmmm. Good food.	Aug 8, 2012 3:36 PM
261	loved it - lots to choose from and always different.	Aug 8, 2012 2:39 PM
262	I liked everything.	Aug 8, 2012 1:34 PM
263	Great events! Fun, family oriented, and lots of great food!	Aug 8, 2012 1:26 PM
264	I liked the community gatherings. Brings people together and gives people something to do. It can get crowded if the event wasn't planned well, and lines for food can get long.	Aug 8, 2012 1:24 PM
265	I liked the variety of food available.	Aug 8, 2012 12:34 PM
266	The variety of food although can get very crowded with long waits. Fun way though to try something different and see what trucks are out there. Then follow them on twitter/FB once you find ones you like.	Aug 8, 2012 11:51 AM
267	I like the opportunity to try out lots of food trucks.	Aug 8, 2012 10:59 AM
268	sometimes they get crowded and I have to wait longer in line for my food. But other than that, they're pretty enjoyable.	Aug 8, 2012 10:52 AM
269	The lines were horribly long...but the food was well worth the wait.	Aug 8, 2012 10:41 AM
270	Good food vs high prices	Aug 8, 2012 8:33 AM
271	Really liked having a variety of food available - entertainment was a plus	Aug 8, 2012 8:08 AM
272	A good way to try various flavor profiles at once.	Aug 8, 2012 7:28 AM
273	There aren't many places to sit	Aug 7, 2012 10:12 PM
274	Multiple food trucks at one location.	Aug 7, 2012 9:36 PM
275	Good food, reasonable price, and variety.	Aug 7, 2012 9:02 PM
276	Lots of choices and fun atmosphere.	Aug 7, 2012 8:04 PM
277	Pros: fun atmosphere, lots of food selections, great place for kids and families to eat and hang out, cool people. Cons: Long lines at times? But where aren't the lines long when the food is good and the place is fun?	Aug 7, 2012 3:55 PM
278	I liked being able to build a meal by visiting a variety of different trucks.	Aug 7, 2012 2:47 PM

Q4. Have you been to a special event with a cluster of food trucks, such as the “Off the Grid” and “Moveable Feast” events throughout the bay area?

279	Good variety, though I arrived late and many trucks were out of food or already closed.	Aug 7, 2012 11:11 AM
280	Lots of parking but location was small so it was packed. Also, more trucks should start taking cards.	Aug 7, 2012 9:35 AM
281	Having a large variety of things to try	Aug 7, 2012 9:27 AM
282	Prices	Aug 7, 2012 8:42 AM
283	Great way to try several trucks, also brings in trucks I normally don't have an opportunity to try. Sometimes lines get long for certain trucks but there are usually other options with shorter lines.	Aug 7, 2012 8:22 AM
284	had lots of parking and a huge variety of trucks to pick from	Aug 7, 2012 8:19 AM
285	A lot of different food options in one place was great.	Aug 7, 2012 7:58 AM
286	It was nice to have different, quick options than just the standard restaurants. If I wanted a sit down meal, I wouldn't go to a food truck, and visa versa.	Aug 7, 2012 7:52 AM
287	The ease and closeness of the options.	Aug 7, 2012 7:45 AM
288	Everything, these are great events that let you try a lot of different food and add tremendous value.	Aug 7, 2012 7:16 AM
289	Variety of food choices	Aug 7, 2012 2:12 AM
290	Loved it! In Milpitas	Aug 7, 2012 1:30 AM
291	Great community events and great eats!	Aug 7, 2012 12:01 AM
292	I like the selection of cuisines, and the unusual types of food offered.	Aug 6, 2012 8:51 PM
293	There was cluster at Food Circle Farm's 2012 Earth Day event. I liked that most were inside the property, but also having one on Dunford was okay.	Aug 6, 2012 7:29 PM
294	easy access to multiple trucks	Aug 6, 2012 5:03 PM
295	Everything! I enjoy having the opportunity to do something in Sunnyvale instead of leaving.	Aug 6, 2012 4:50 PM
296	I liked that there was a variety of food available and we could walk from truck to truck. however, the cleanliness of the food and the food prep was always in question. I wasn't sure if these trucks had health inspector clearance to be operating.	Aug 6, 2012 12:17 PM
297	I liked that there was a selection of trucks to choose from.	Aug 6, 2012 9:14 AM
298	variety of trucks, music	Aug 6, 2012 7:59 AM
299	If you put them all in one place (Edgewood Eats Palo Alto) it is like a community gathering. Edgewood Eats also had a charity each month and a portion of	Aug 6, 2012 7:56 AM proceeds were donated. I work at Stanford and would stop and get dinner.

300	Loved! Absolutely great!	Aug 6, 2012 7:33 AM
301	Love it!!!	Aug 6, 2012 6:32 AM
302	I liked the variety; my kids were able to get what they liked and I could find healthier options.	Aug 6, 2012 6:15 AM
303	good collection of cuisine.. but are they hygenic..? are they required follow any code ? Do they pay taxes to the city ?	Aug 6, 2012 5:42 AM
304	Likes: Large variety of interesting food. Dislikes: exhaust from food truck engines/generators, people smoking	Aug 6, 2012 5:17 AM
305	Music is too loud for my family, but to have many delicious choices to eat was very enjoyable.	Aug 5, 2012 10:40 PM
306	different choices including dessert!	Aug 5, 2012 10:23 PM
307	Nice variety in a small, convenient place. There are some high quality food trucks in the bay area.	Aug 5, 2012 10:18 PM
308	disliked limited seating and garbage disposal. Also disliked how Curry Up Now, on two separate occasions, ended up with a limited menu because they didn't have items available that was listed on their menu, and people waited in line for a long time only to be told at a later time that the full menu posted was not available. Please do not give permits to Curry Up Now, as I've had 3 disappointing/bad experiences with them regarding food service and food quality, even though they are highly recommended. I don't think they should be permitted to do business in Sunnyvale anymore. Llikes about cluster events is the availability of a variety of foods.	Aug 5, 2012 10:06 PM
309	Variety. Being able to try different things from each truck.	Aug 5, 2012 9:55 PM
310	I liked the variety of food offered and the quality.	Aug 5, 2012 9:39 PM
311	Love the different types of food offered	Aug 5, 2012 9:08 PM
312	Loved having a bunch of trucks in one spot. We ate one thing from 5 or so trucks and it was awesome to try so many yummy items. Gets busy and lines are long sometimes, but fun. Love the atmosphere. Love supporting small businesses.	Aug 5, 2012 8:46 PM
313	Like the wide varieties of food choices. Did not dislike anything.	Aug 5, 2012 7:41 PM
314	I loved the variety of choices and the ease of having so many trucks in one place. I enjoyed watching the family groups gathering together for dinner.	Aug 5, 2012 3:23 PM
315	I thought food trucks were a great idea, because it allowed the organizers to focus on much more important factors than food.	Aug 5, 2012 1:48 PM
316	Convenient and festive.	Aug 4, 2012 8:44 PM

Q4. Have you been to a special event with a cluster of food trucks, such as the “Off the Grid” and “Moveable Feast” events throughout the bay area?

317	Too crowded, but it was an interesting experience, with a choice of good foods.	Aug 4, 2012 10:17 AM
318	But I plan to. Friends have attended and told me great things.	Aug 4, 2012 10:14 AM
319	Pay to get in the door	Aug 4, 2012 6:57 AM
320	I loved it there was not enough variety and the line was really long some people were not able to get food because the truck left too fast.	Aug 3, 2012 11:12 PM
321	I'm a HUGE Moveable Feast fan. I love that I can access multiple trucks in one spot.	Aug 3, 2012 7:44 PM
322	Wonderful food; reasonable prices. Want MORE!	Aug 3, 2012 9:46 AM
323	Everything was fine.	Aug 3, 2012 9:39 AM
324	Variety of food in one place.	Aug 2, 2012 12:25 PM
325	No dislikes!	Jul 31, 2012 11:32 PM
326	Variety of food, community.	Jul 31, 2012 8:11 PM
327	It was neat to try lots of different things I wouldn't see very often.	Jul 31, 2012 11:49 AM
328	Convenience is great; cost isn't much different from some restaurants, considering they have little overhead.	Jul 31, 2012 6:30 AM
329	they announced well ahead of time. Location was Fremont.	Jul 30, 2012 11:02 PM
330	I loooooooved it. They had some crates out for seating but we brought lawn chairs. The variety for everyone makes group dining appealing. I saw no issues with trash or noise.	Jul 30, 2012 9:15 PM
331	liked very much	Jul 30, 2012 8:05 PM
332	I liked the options presented, that chairs were provided, the interaction with other people.	Jul 30, 2012 7:10 PM
333	Food diversity, and good non-chain food at modest prices.	Jul 30, 2012 6:15 PM
334	food was good, many choices, atmosphere was great, fun for the whole family	Jul 30, 2012 5:12 PM
335	Liked trying a variety of foods at a good price. Meeting up with people who could each get their own thing.	Jul 30, 2012 4:22 PM
336	Liked the array of choices at SJ Earthquakes' games	Jul 30, 2012 3:53 PM
337	Enjoyed the opportunity to try a variety of foods.	Jul 30, 2012 3:33 PM
338	The food is wonderful and the atmosphere is family oriented. My only dislike is the long lines at some of these events.	Jul 30, 2012 3:13 PM
339	I liked having more options. (went to food trucks in Mt. View at Thursday Night	Jul 30, 2012 2:21 PM

	Live). Also quicker, more portable than sit down restaurant
340	Diversity of food options for that small interval.	Jul 30, 2012 1:27 PM
341	I think it's great.	Jul 30, 2012 1:17 PM
342	Good variety of food	Jul 30, 2012 1:08 PM
343	Lots of choices of delicious gourmet food was great	Jul 30, 2012 1:06 PM
344	loved the diversity of the food trucks!	Jul 30, 2012 12:52 PM
345	I like the event, provides a wonderful array of culinary choice at an affordable price and accessible.	Jul 30, 2012 12:43 PM
346	No oversight. Don't know history of the food, cleanliness. Will not attend again.	Jul 30, 2012 12:03 PM
347	I loved the variety of food, and the high standard of food. In particular I loved the Indian burritos, crepes, Pho, and Bahn Mi trucks I've been to.	Jul 30, 2012 11:57 AM
348	Lots of new, different things to try.	Jul 30, 2012 11:30 AM
349	Quality and variety of food. Fun atmosphere.	Jul 30, 2012 11:08 AM
350	Trucks don't belong in the middle of cramped park spaces near lawns, etc. such as Dia de Portugal in San Jose. Also I don't like them taking up precious parking spaces in private lots, and siphoning local business customers w/o paying & investing in a store. They are behemoths.	Jul 30, 2012 11:01 AM
351	loved the variety of food trucks and the fun atmosphere	Jul 30, 2012 10:51 AM
352	Variety of Food - tends to be a higher end food	Jul 30, 2012 10:48 AM
353	The energy, the speed and availability of good food, as well as the many different options to try different foods. Great community atmosphere	Jul 30, 2012 10:44 AM
354	I liked the Off the Grid in PA, and know that many people from nearby cities go to PA for this event.	Jul 30, 2012 10:41 AM
355	Many food trucks parked. Most were dirty and created unhygienic atmosphere. I've limited food I buy from these establishments because of cleanliness and lack of regulation.	Jul 30, 2012 10:40 AM
356	Only thing I disliked was the slow service.	Jul 30, 2012 10:39 AM
357	LOVE it. Especially when there are healthy options and trucks that have good offerings for kids.	Jul 30, 2012 10:30 AM
358	traffic backed up unable to drive on surface streets safely due to jaywalkers, bikes etc illegally parked cars trying to get to trucks	Jul 28, 2012 2:02 PM
359	The variety, creativity of the vendors and energy of happy people was very enjoyable. I would have appreciated more seating, perhaps provided by the	Jul 27, 2012 9:30 PM vendors.

360	Really great idea....	Jul 27, 2012 4:59 PM
361	positives: wonderful selection of not otherwise available food items, unique positive "vibe", great family friendly atmosphere potential negatives: needs to be enough space and parking for the number of customers	Jul 27, 2012 3:22 PM
362	Likes: * Food of great quality, variety, and value * Socializing with family and friends * Dynamic and revitalized use of public and private space * Opportunity to support small local businesses, i.e. the trucks * In some cases opportunity to support worthy causes if the event is a fundraiser * Opportunity to express my own creativity through blogging, podcasting, etc. * Community-building * Commercial benefit to nearby businesses, e.g. if I shop nearby before or after eating Dislikes: (These should not be construed as statements against specific food truck events. Rather, these are general concerns that can detract from an event.) * Limited, far, or costly parking * Inadequate restroom facilities * Too few trucks given the number of patrons, i.e. long lines * Too many trucks given the number of patrons, i.e. a "dead" event * Inadequate marketing and communication * Inadequate facilities for disposing of trash * Insufficient cover (e.g. EZ-Ups) to protect from sun or rain	Jul 27, 2012 3:13 PM
363	Liked variety of food offerings and when held in large enough spaces, manageable crowds. Do not like when they are overcrowded.	Jul 27, 2012 2:48 PM
364	Liked the easy access to parking and there were many trucks available.	Jul 27, 2012 2:26 PM
365	Interesting variety of foods, great opportunity to socialize with others...fun environment!	Jul 27, 2012 2:20 PM
366	Liked lots of choices. Won't go to super-crowded events.	Jul 27, 2012 2:20 PM
367	It was great that there was a large variety of food trucks, but it was a small area that got crowded and the line-ups were long!	Jul 27, 2012 10:41 AM
368	i like it, my family able to try a different food. Food truck events are definitely better for us, a family with two small kids compare to traditional restaurant. We save money on the tips, faster service, we could have all different type of food and our kids usually behaving better than sitting down at restaurant	Jul 27, 2012 8:50 AM
369	Large events are not always the best way to present small business to new customers... they they have opportunities to reach smaller groups at businesses or in more intimate areas the experience tends to be positive on both sides.	Jul 27, 2012 8:43 AM
370	Great variety of food in one location and a community feeling that is tough to get in a restaurant setting.	Jul 27, 2012 8:13 AM
371	able to taste verity of gourmet food in one location.	Jul 27, 2012 8:12 AM
372	I liked that the event was in a location that would not affect existing restaurants/businesses and that it was a once a week event. This allowed it to be a special event that had minimal impact on existing businesses while still offering a new dining experience that was not stale.	Jul 26, 2012 10:14 AM

Q4. Have you been to a special event with a cluster of food trucks, such as the “Off the Grid” and “Moveable Feast” events throughout the bay area?

373	I thought that it was great, and had a real diversity of food available for everyone, especially families.	Jul 26, 2012 8:27 AM
374	Lots of selection was fun, something for everyone.	Jul 26, 2012 4:08 AM
375	Variety of options	Jul 25, 2012 6:39 PM

Q5. Would you like to see an event similar to “Off the Grid” or “Moveable Feast” in Sunnyvale?

1	This brings a positive atmosphere to a city that comes across to me as stuffy.	Dec 4, 2012 4:18 PM
2	I want more yummy food to eat closer to home. These events are good for the community and local businesses.	Oct 31, 2012 5:56 PM
3	Having an event like that closer to home would save some driving, which is always a plus.	Oct 30, 2012 9:00 PM
4	As someone who works in Sunnyvale, I only visit food trucks for lunch and therefor location is the primary concern. Large events are irrelevant to me.	Oct 30, 2012 8:18 AM
5	no opinion	Oct 29, 2012 12:49 PM
6	It would be a lot of fun and a chance to try other trucks.	Oct 27, 2012 2:52 PM
7	I think it would build a stronger sense of community.	Oct 26, 2012 5:20 PM
8	An event in the south bay/peninsula area would be great and much more convenient	Oct 25, 2012 1:37 PM
9	Why in God's name would ANYONE go to Sunnyvale if they didn't have to?	Oct 25, 2012 12:37 PM
10	Ive been to many moveable feasts in san jose and san francisgaco, each well organized and fun atmoshere	Oct 25, 2012 11:20 AM
11	I am only in Sunnyvale M-F, working hours. No need for special event outside of working hours.	Oct 25, 2012 11:19 AM
12	Always great to have these events in nearby locations	Oct 25, 2012 11:18 AM
13	off the grid is very well organized and offers a more gourmet selection than moveable feast that offers trucks that are easily found in the South Bay.	Oct 25, 2012 10:59 AM
14	It's a good opportunity to have people gather and enjoy good food trucks in your city. All other cities do it, why not in Sunnyvale?	Oct 25, 2012 10:48 AM
15	Interesting way to try foods	Oct 24, 2012 11:47 AM
16	I am a very big fan of food trucks. It would be nice to have a food truck festival.	Oct 16, 2012 4:49 PM
17	I don't live in Sunnyvale	Oct 12, 2012 9:17 PM
18	Great family fun, clean, no cost for the city, great source of revenue for the city	Oct 9, 2012 12:37 PM
19	A great event, maybe in the new Lawrence area!	Oct 7, 2012 8:53 PM
20	We always go early and then walk to nearby business'	Oct 7, 2012 2:03 PM
21	I think an event like this would be a good way to raise money to help the city in its downtown redevelopment. I also think it would be a good way to attract people into Sunnyvale.	Sep 18, 2012 10:46 AM
22	Sunnyvale needs more events that bring folks together and offer a family-friendly environment. Unlike a concert, if you go to a "moveable feast" and there's	Sep 13, 2012 6:45 PM someone being annoying, you can just move on to the next truck! Food trucks also offer the opportunity to catch them at different places. Maybe I don't want to drive all the way to Mary and Fremont, but I'll drive to El Camino and Sunnyvale/Saratoga on my way home. its just a really cool idea, and everyone loves them.

Q5. Would you like to see an event similar to “Off the Grid” or “Moveable Feast” in Sunnyvale?

23	This will bring business and fun to the city	Sep 13, 2012 4:24 PM
24	I believe people need choices and the street dining does just that, makes it easy for families to go out where normally you just annoy people	Sep 12, 2012 11:43 AM
25	I've driven to all over San Jose to attend the Moveable Feast events. I wish Sunnyvale would allow them to hold an event so I wouldn't have to drive as far.	Sep 6, 2012 10:54 PM
26	Not a bad idea, but make sure someone plans out parking and sanitation first.	Sep 4, 2012 10:49 AM
27	If in an area that can accomodate	Sep 4, 2012 7:49 AM
28	Its great to have so many options to try in one place!	Sep 2, 2012 10:27 AM
29	See my last answer.	Sep 2, 2012 9:23 AM
30	Do SOMETHING with the carcass known as the downtown mall!	Sep 1, 2012 3:38 PM
31	Same as above.	Sep 1, 2012 3:32 PM
32	I wouldn't have to travel outside of my area just to experience food trucks. There are certain trucks that don't make it out to this area and people won't get to experience the creative culinary creations food trucks offer.	Sep 1, 2012 10:48 AM
33	It could bring people into downtown people who wouldn't normally visit and show them how nice sunnyvale is.	Sep 1, 2012 7:35 AM
34	If I am in an area where there are food truck events, I plan my shopping around that!	Aug 31, 2012 10:44 AM
35	I love Moveable Feast and follow them to San Jose on Fridays, Saturdays, and Mondays. These tend to be far from my home and I would welcome a gathering in Sunnyvale, Mountain View, or Santa Clara!!!	Aug 31, 2012 3:53 AM
36	Yes, I always travel to Palo Alto, San Mateo, Milpitas, etc. It would be nice to be able to stay home (Sunnyvale).	Aug 30, 2012 8:33 PM
37	I love Moveable Feast but since the Garden City hasn't been running lately, most of their events are too far especially for a weekday.	Aug 30, 2012 7:24 PM
38	Yes, I would. Supporting small businesses is key to growing an economy and bringing a community together is always a plus!	Aug 30, 2012 3:42 PM
39	Yes - there are enough closed car dealerships and the like to make for an easy-to-park solution.	Aug 30, 2012 3:17 PM
40	Yes - there are enough closed car dealerships and the like to make for an easy-to-park solution.	Aug 30, 2012 3:17 PM

Q5. Would you like to see an event similar to “Off the Grid” or “Moveable Feast” in Sunnyvale?

41	It's a great way to try different food trucks, or get a mix of food to satisfy a whole family.	Aug 30, 2012 2:00 PM
42	Keeping up w/ the times.	Aug 30, 2012 12:27 PM
43	It would or could be a summer event w/ music & vendors. I would suggest a location downtown.	Aug 30, 2012 12:26 PM
44	I think this is a great way to control the food trucks. Any truck that is not opporating in this specific area and time could be cited.	Aug 30, 2012 12:21 PM
45	I know very little specifics, but a cluster of food trucks sounds nice.	Aug 30, 2012 12:18 PM
46	I think you'll get a lot of business here	Aug 29, 2012 11:29 PM
47	give small businesses an opportunity to do business in Sunnyvale. there are more healthy food trucks these days.	Aug 29, 2012 8:20 PM
48	It seems Sunnyvale is not very welcoming to certain changes brought primarily by the movement toward social media/connections. I think adding an event like this will benefit the morale of all generations and bring people together that might not otherwise interact.	Aug 29, 2012 5:25 PM
49	Would be great to have such an event on a weekend or a 1 weeknight, to bring different food options to the city of Sunnyvale	Aug 29, 2012 3:33 PM
50	Having an event close to home and work would be awesome.	Aug 29, 2012 2:44 PM
51	Would allow more socialization among members of the Sunnyvale community.	Aug 29, 2012 1:39 PM
52	Let's get with the times.	Aug 29, 2012 1:23 PM
53	If they are closer to where i work it would be easier to attend after work	Aug 29, 2012 12:30 PM
54	I think it would be fun to offer these occasionally. Maybe just a couple times a year.	Aug 29, 2012 12:12 PM
55	Bring it closer to my home.	Aug 29, 2012 11:28 AM
56	The events are festive affairs which can help draw a community together.	Aug 29, 2012 8:45 AM
57	WOULD LOVE THIS! I have a hard time making it to the other Moveable Feast locations so if one was closer, it would be easier to get to.	Aug 29, 2012 7:35 AM
58	At a regular location would be nice	Aug 29, 2012 2:46 AM
59	In North Sunnyvale, out near Moffett Park and the Baylands, there are very few dining options. It would be great to have weekday lunch events there, since there are so many businesses in the area. Generally, everyone is stuck driving to El Camino, Castro, or Milpitas to eat.	Aug 29, 2012 12:32 AM
60	It would be nice not to have to drive so far for a meal from a food truck.	Aug 28, 2012 10:24 PM
61	It's great dinner spot... I would like a place to go while traffic dies down	Aug 28, 2012 8:50 PM

Q5. Would you like to see an event similar to “Off the Grid” or “Moveable Feast” in Sunnyvale?

62	Love food trucks. Why not bring the fun to the city	Aug 28, 2012 8:12 PM
63	Held on the empty streets of the yet to be finished town center would at least get people in the area and interested. It would show developers that this area should be built out for the benefit of Sunnyvale	Aug 28, 2012 7:46 PM
64	Sure.... why not.... it could bring a nice community feel to Sunnyvale.	Aug 28, 2012 7:05 PM
65	It's such a hassle to go to SF over the weekends since I work in Sunnyvale.	Aug 28, 2012 6:48 PM
66	a good way to draw people into the area who might shop at Sunnyvale stores	Aug 28, 2012 6:02 PM
67	I am in a cycling group that starts and ends at the corner of Mary and Fremont on the weekends. We usually stop for lunch in the area. Would be fun to create a bicycle route that incorporates a lunch stop, it would be so easy on a bike.	Aug 28, 2012 5:17 PM
68	I will attract alot of people	Aug 28, 2012 5:11 PM
69	It gives our family a great, safe option of something different and fun to do	Aug 28, 2012 5:09 PM
70	It's close to my house. The end.	Aug 28, 2012 5:03 PM
71	It would be fun!	Aug 28, 2012 4:49 PM
72	Food trucks are a great way to enjoy a night/lunch out on a budget! They are also a great way to fund raise. My friend who is a teacher in Santa Clara had 8 trucks for a Friday night event to raise money for their elementary schools. The event was held on the playground, very good turnout, at times the wait was longer than 30 minutes for some of the trucks. Food was fantastic! Kids had a blast being out late on a Friday night, on the school grounds!!	Aug 28, 2012 4:26 PM
73	I love going to Moveable Feast events, and would love to see more of them in cities I am frequently in.	Aug 28, 2012 4:09 PM
74	fun way to try new foods	Aug 28, 2012 4:02 PM
75	I would prefer MtnView since I spend more time in that city but Sunnyvale will do.	Aug 28, 2012 3:52 PM
76	Too lazy to drive in traffic! Ha! Love the cheap food varieties. Brings people together	Aug 28, 2012 3:46 PM
77	Lots of fun and promotes community atmosphere.	Aug 28, 2012 3:43 PM
78	It will be closer to me since it is in my neighborhood and not a lot of things normally happen in Sunnyvale.	Aug 28, 2012 3:42 PM
79	It's nice to have the choices. If there was a regularly scheduled one I would definitely make it a habit of going.	Aug 28, 2012 3:35 PM
80	I would definitely go to that.	Aug 28, 2012 3:35 PM
81	Brings people out here plus hate driving to sf	Aug 28, 2012 3:11 PM
82	Its a 10 minute drive to Sunnyvale and I'd like to see one here.	Aug 28, 2012 3:06 PM

Q5. Would you like to see an event similar to “Off the Grid” or “Moveable Feast” in Sunnyvale?

83	I like the gatherings, I would like them closer to home	Aug 28, 2012 2:52 PM
84	No such event right now in Sunnyvale/Santa Clara area right now.	Aug 28, 2012 2:48 PM
85	making it a fundraiser would be added incentive. How about checking with the PAL that is with Sunnyvale public safety? They are looking for fundraisers!	Aug 28, 2012 2:48 PM
86	Moveable Feast is awesome but we don't get out as much as we'd like since sometimes the drive to Willow Glen is too inconvenient	Aug 28, 2012 2:47 PM
87	Yes. I would love for there to be some more feasts closer to my house.	Aug 28, 2012 2:43 PM
88	Why not bring the success to Sunnyvale?	Aug 28, 2012 2:42 PM
89	It would be a lot of fun and get people out and meeting each other	Aug 28, 2012 2:41 PM
90	anything for more lunch and dinner options.	Aug 28, 2012 2:38 PM
91	As long as there is a good variety healthy options.	Aug 28, 2012 2:35 PM
92	feed my belly!!!	Aug 28, 2012 2:31 PM
93	it is a great way to meet people, good place to go after work. Allows for a great variety of food and its a festive atmosphere.	Aug 28, 2012 2:30 PM
94	Would love the opportunity to try more unique eats!	Aug 28, 2012 2:29 PM
95	More options for locations to check out plus it can help bring business to the city.	Aug 28, 2012 2:29 PM
96	I think that the city of Sunnyvale would greatly benefit from a variety of different and innovative food.	Aug 28, 2012 2:27 PM
97	Any even that encourages the community to come out and meet each other is a good thing, and trucks bring out people with diverse interests and given them a reason to socialize.	Aug 28, 2012 2:26 PM
98	I don't mind going far away for moveable feast sometimes, but Sunnyvale is my area so it would be nice to see them often.	Aug 28, 2012 2:26 PM
99	i work here a lot so it'd be cool to grab lunch from any of the food trucks present at such events	Aug 28, 2012 2:26 PM
100	I like the different food truck events and I think as they spread throughout the Bay you get a different trucks that may not go to the south bay or may only stay in the east bay.	Aug 28, 2012 2:15 PM
101	I think it's great to able to try different kinds of food at the same location.	Aug 28, 2012 2:12 PM
102	It'd be really really awesome if I could bounce from my office out to a dinner at a truck event here, or bring out a bunch of coworkers and friends or whatever.	Aug 28, 2012 2:12 PM
103	We live in the area so we'd love to enjoy food truck events close to home.	Aug 28, 2012 2:10 PM
104	see above answer to #4	Aug 28, 2012 2:05 PM

Q5. Would you like to see an event similar to “Off the Grid” or “Moveable Feast” in Sunnyvale?

105	Please, I hate driving to San Jose every weekend to attend moveable feast!	Aug 28, 2012 2:02 PM
106	Moveable feast!	Aug 28, 2012 1:59 PM
107	I live in Sunnyvale and would love a weekly or regular spot to where I could visit food trucks.	Aug 28, 2012 1:58 PM
108	Provides more food options when I'm in Sunnyvale already	Aug 28, 2012 1:58 PM
109	It brings people to the local area. If it is in a good location, it could support local businesses as well.	Aug 28, 2012 1:56 PM
110	I live in Sunnyvale and I think they need an event like food trucks there. I think it would be a big hit	Aug 28, 2012 1:54 PM
111	I live in Sunnyvale and wish I could attend more food truck festivities	Aug 28, 2012 1:54 PM
112	It's a long drive on a night after work to the Moveable Feast in San Jose.	Aug 28, 2012 1:54 PM
113	The other locations are too far away and less centrally located. There is nothing that is currently in the Santa Clara, Sunnyvale, Mountain View area. Most of the events are now mostly in San Jose with bad traffic at night.	Aug 28, 2012 1:54 PM
114	The events are family friendly and a great way to get kids out of the house and do something.	Aug 28, 2012 1:51 PM
115	culinary students love food	Aug 28, 2012 1:51 PM
116	it would be something fun my carpool buddy & i could attend sometimes.	Aug 28, 2012 1:49 PM
117	I'm in Sunnyvale several times a week and would love to be able to take family/friends/co-workers to these sorts of events.	Aug 28, 2012 1:48 PM
118	The closest is some distance away, and I know several people from Sunnyvale / Mountain View / etc.. that travel quite some distance to go to an "off the grid" event. One in Sunnyvale would be excellent!	Aug 28, 2012 1:48 PM
119	Best events ever!	Aug 28, 2012 11:59 AM
120	We would not want to take business away from the trucks that come on our campus to service our employees.	Aug 27, 2012 12:04 PM
121	Having them at events like Art and Wine, State of the City, etc. would be a nice option at these events.	Aug 27, 2012 11:12 AM
122	would be closer than San Jose	Aug 27, 2012 10:18 AM
123	These are great events and get people trying new and exciting foods.	Aug 27, 2012 8:38 AM
124	More options and things to do livens up the city.	Aug 27, 2012 8:09 AM
125	Its fun and lots of yummy food not to mention there are many followers and would bring more people to Sunnyvale	Aug 27, 2012 8:02 AM

Q5. Would you like to see an event similar to “Off the Grid” or “Moveable Feast” in Sunnyvale?

126	YES YES YES! I think its another great event to have in our city!	Aug 26, 2012 8:39 PM
127	Yes, Yes....suggested that a year ago.	Aug 26, 2012 7:22 PM
128	It brings lots of great food. Also will bring a lot of people to our downtown :).	Aug 26, 2012 5:15 PM
129	I would like to see a better variety of food trucks. Asian, Indian, organic, BBQ, vegetarian (not Indian) and desserts. Perhaps also include art for purchase + music. I would also like the event to be as kid-friendly/welcoming as possible.	Aug 24, 2012 8:16 AM
130	No opinion	Aug 23, 2012 8:52 PM
131	I would like to see an event like this monthly!	Aug 22, 2012 8:13 PM
132	I can't emphasize "yes" enough.	Aug 22, 2012 6:49 PM
133	I think it would be fun and a great way to explore new food truck vendors	Aug 22, 2012 4:43 PM
134	Fun sampling of food and convenient access.	Aug 22, 2012 4:13 PM
135	Food trucks are becoming a back bone of small businesses in the bay area allowing all types of people to own and operate a business locally. Sunnyvale deserves to share in the fun and potential prosperity of this booming industry	Aug 22, 2012 3:50 PM
136	Lunch pod?	Aug 22, 2012 3:11 PM
137	It gives you an opportunity to try different types of food at one location,.	Aug 22, 2012 11:42 AM
138	We have found Moveable Feast to be a great addition to our community (the Blossom Hill location on Monday nights is the closest one for me and the one I frequent most often). It is one of the few events that is truly all-ages. You're just as likely to see groups of teenagers as you are to see families or even businesspeople grabbing a quick bite on the way home from work. It's always a fun time, and Sunnyvale—or any community—would be lucky to have easy access to it.	Aug 22, 2012 11:38 AM
139	I would love an event like that. They stopped doing as many in San Mateo (where I live), so if there were more options by my office, I would really like that.	Aug 22, 2012 10:07 AM
140	The cluster events bring the best trucks	Aug 22, 2012 9:20 AM
141	it's fun and it gets the community together. I love Sunnyvale's community!	Aug 22, 2012 8:20 AM
142	I think there should be more venues like those to support the food trucks. Though I like that the food trucks still have independent schedules, the food truck events are really fun and gives customers a chance to sample new trucks and go back to old favorites.	Aug 21, 2012 5:12 PM
143	Yes! The City Plaza Del Sol is a perfect location, as the train is adjacent, and the plaza is concrete, for access by vehicle.	Aug 21, 2012 8:42 AM
144	Emeryville is the perfect sample city that Sunnyvale can follow.	Aug 19, 2012 11:48 PM
145	I love food trucks!	Aug 19, 2012 11:20 PM

Q5. Would you like to see an event similar to “Off the Grid” or “Moveable Feast” in Sunnyvale?

146	Would be great to have during the weekday lunch hour	Aug 18, 2012 4:53 PM
147	Brings community together and offers more food options. Sunnyvale has a limited variety of decent restaurants.	Aug 18, 2012 3:39 PM
148	it would be awesome if food trucks in general were more available in this area especially in clusters	Aug 18, 2012 10:38 AM
149	It is great for community building and supporting local businesses. I like seeing families enjoying these events.	Aug 17, 2012 1:10 PM
150	If there will be even ONE single vegan food option, I'll be all for it.	Aug 17, 2012 12:47 PM
151	Food trucks were made to convenience the customer, not the food truck owner. If I want food from a truck, I expect the truck to come to the customers, not vice versa. Give them specific routes throughout the day and night to service its customers, where it is less impact on traffic and public right of ways, such as industrial office spaces and such.	Aug 17, 2012 8:51 AM
152	I like having options for a cheap snack, and food trucks can come in and out of rotation in those gatherings really easily.	Aug 16, 2012 3:26 PM
153	Food trucks are an interesting opportunity for businesses to expand or be created. It allows chefs to experiment, or get noticed.	Aug 14, 2012 8:26 PM
154	How about an event at the Community Center?! Has a big parking lot and lovely grounds for a picnic.	Aug 14, 2012 1:19 PM
155	See answer to question 4.	Aug 14, 2012 11:56 AM
156	I would be there weekly. Bring the business to Sunnyvale rather than other places.	Aug 14, 2012 9:40 AM
157	- Helps local businesses - Creates a "buzz" - More food options - Popularity with tech companies - Fast and on the go food	Aug 14, 2012 8:43 AM
158	Yes and this trend may not last forever so get on it Sunnyvale!!!	Aug 13, 2012 6:25 PM
159	We don't have that many interesting restaurants in Sunnyvale. More choice is always good.	Aug 13, 2012 5:05 PM
160	But only if vendors pay a fee that goes to the city just like brick-and-mortar food establishments must do with their taxes.	Aug 13, 2012 4:37 PM
161	Yes please!	Aug 13, 2012 2:26 PM
162	Sunnyvale must proudly show how diverse they are and one of the best ways is through food.	Aug 13, 2012 2:18 PM
163	Cheaper than in restaurant	Aug 13, 2012 1:52 PM
164	Absolutely! sometimes San Jose is just too far to drive	Aug 13, 2012 12:03 PM
165	It would be great I go to moveable feast 2x a month.	Aug 13, 2012 9:57 AM

Q5. Would you like to see an event similar to “Off the Grid” or “Moveable Feast” in Sunnyvale?

166	Something close to downtown would be awesome	Aug 13, 2012 9:28 AM
167	This is a popular trend and Sunnyvale should get on board.	Aug 13, 2012 9:12 AM
168	It will bring business to this city not only that it will promote this city aswell. Sunnyvale can uset he empty lot they have.	Aug 12, 2012 7:20 AM
169	I would like to see an event similar to "Off the Grid" or "Moveable Feast" in Sunnyvale	Aug 10, 2012 5:18 PM
170	Enjoy trying the food from the different trucks, and if I am in a group, everyone can find something that they like to eat by going to different trucks.	Aug 10, 2012 12:37 PM
171	It would be great if "Off the Grid" came to Sunnyvale Caltrain like downtown San Mateo Caltrain.	Aug 10, 2012 8:54 AM
172	Almost have something similar at the Wednesday night events in downtown Sunnyvale. Just need a lot more trucks!	Aug 10, 2012 8:49 AM
173	The benefit is that they are scattered around. Collecting these in one place is not what I am looking for.	Aug 10, 2012 8:48 AM
174	I think this is a great way to showcase different culinary styles.	Aug 10, 2012 8:45 AM
175	While I work in Sunnyvale, I live in HMB, and there aren't a lot of food trucks. I'd be willing to stick around after work for an event such as this.	Aug 10, 2012 8:45 AM
176	Absolutely! Sunnyvale should be a food capitol!	Aug 10, 2012 7:46 AM
177	This is a popular aspect of the foodie movement. Why should Sunnyvale be left out?	Aug 9, 2012 5:39 PM
178	Same as above.	Aug 9, 2012 5:28 PM
179	Food brings people together.	Aug 9, 2012 3:58 PM
180	These trucks can be very good. You can get a variety of food in a small area. Almost like the Art and Wine festivals or farmers market.	Aug 9, 2012 12:28 PM
181	Not here after hours	Aug 9, 2012 7:44 AM
182	They are fun events and a great place to get good inexpensive food.	Aug 8, 2012 10:59 PM
183	I think this could bring more people to Sunnyvale.	Aug 8, 2012 3:02 PM
184	Brings community together and exposes people to different foods and cultures.	Aug 8, 2012 1:24 PM
185	More options are better.	Aug 8, 2012 12:34 PM
186	it would be nice, but I'm not sure where would be a good spot. There needs to be ample parking and transit access.	Aug 8, 2012 10:52 AM
187	Talk about activating a community. These events bring massive amounts of people out!	Aug 8, 2012 10:41 AM

Q5. Would you like to see an event similar to “Off the Grid” or “Moveable Feast” in Sunnyvale?

188	Its a good way for me to preview food trucks that could potentially service my place of employment.	Aug 8, 2012 9:49 AM
189	Don't live in Sunnyvale. Food trucks are useful as a convenience working here	Aug 8, 2012 8:33 AM
190	Variety is the spice of life!	Aug 8, 2012 8:01 AM
191	As a consumer, why not? I love the concept and feel our free market system will let us all know if it works or doesn't	Aug 7, 2012 3:55 PM
192	The closest food truck events held regularly are in San Jose and San Mateo- it would be nice to have one closer.	Aug 7, 2012 2:47 PM
193	I didn't think it was all that amazing.	Aug 7, 2012 11:11 AM
194	Absolutely.	Aug 7, 2012 9:35 AM
195	I don't live here, but work here, so a daytime event would be of interest to me.	Aug 7, 2012 9:27 AM
196	Depends on where/how accessible it was	Aug 7, 2012 8:39 AM
197	Not a total necessity because there are a lot of options but it's nice to have the option and I'd go if we had it.	Aug 7, 2012 8:22 AM
198	traveling to different cities on a lunch break is difficult. a few trucks in one place would be very convenient	Aug 7, 2012 8:19 AM
199	More events = more food trucks = a greater variety of food options	Aug 7, 2012 12:01 AM
200	This would be much more convenient than driving to San Jose, or following the trucks' Twitter feeds.	Aug 6, 2012 8:51 PM
201	Sounds like a fun community based event and supports small businesses	Aug 6, 2012 6:14 PM
202	Would be the closest such event to my residence	Aug 6, 2012 5:03 PM
203	It is a basic freedom of speech to be able to offer services to the public. Bureaucracy costs us tax dollars to enforce and enforcement is rarely equitable.	Aug 6, 2012 1:12 PM
204	but it needs to be held in a parking lot with designated spaces for people to park, well away from the food trucks. this should be confined to areas where restaurants are permitted and not anywhere near residential areas.	Aug 6, 2012 12:17 PM
205	I think it would make the parking situation easier depending on where the event was.	Aug 6, 2012 9:14 AM
206	Although I've never eaten at a food truck, they've gained a great reputation and I'd like the opportunity to try it. Also, based on the city where my mother lives, I've heard these events can bring lots of people to the city, not only to eat, but to get to know the other benefits and businesses in our community.	Aug 6, 2012 9:13 AM
207	What's to explain?! I love these events!	Aug 6, 2012 7:59 AM
208	create an atmosphere of community and if you do like palo alto and donate to	Aug 6, 2012 7:56 AM charities good cause.

209	Keep it up on El Camino, and it would be a GREAT thing in Sunnyvale. Sprouts parking lot... etc.	Aug 6, 2012 7:33 AM
210	I have heard great things about Moveable Feast and would like to see one in Sunnyvale.	Aug 6, 2012 6:59 AM
211	not a big fan of food trucks	Aug 6, 2012 5:42 AM
212	It brings more choices for good food to our area and now I don't have to drive to San Francisco, Fremont or San Jose to get it!	Aug 5, 2012 10:40 PM
213	If they were high quality, yes.	Aug 5, 2012 10:18 PM
214	Please don't consider Curry Up Now for the reasons I provided above.	Aug 5, 2012 10:06 PM
215	These are fun events and the food trucks do a lot of charity work for various causes and really bring people out.	Aug 5, 2012 9:39 PM
216	Support fixed location restaurants	Aug 5, 2012 8:53 PM
217	I don't know what these are, but it sounds interesting.	Aug 5, 2012 8:50 PM
218	Recently went to San Jose's Night Market. Kind of far, but went to taste a bunch of "pan asian" trucks in one spot. I would have liked to stay closer to home and thought to myself the De Anza College parking lot would be closer, but Sunnyvale would be GREAT!	Aug 5, 2012 8:46 PM
219	have never trusted the food safety or quality of food in trucks	Aug 5, 2012 8:28 PM
220	I live very near Sunnyvale so the convenience of location would be nice.	Aug 5, 2012 3:23 PM
221	I am a fussy eater so I wouldn't attend, but I think it is a good idea if others are interested.	Aug 5, 2012 1:48 PM
222	Sunnyvale lacks good eating establishments. Food trucks provides more options, and is free enterprise at it's best.	Aug 4, 2012 10:17 AM
223	But, I would prefer it to be in an area where it would have minimal impact to existing restaurants.	Aug 4, 2012 10:14 AM
224	it will bring a much needed image haul to downtown sunnyvale and would indicate that sunnyvale is open for business during construction. Most of the restaurants on Murphy street are closed on sundays . it would create jobs for locals as well as generate income for sunnyvale. there are no really good food locations on sundays in the downtown area for people to acess while shopping at macys or target.	Aug 3, 2012 11:12 PM
225	I've never been to one because I hate going to SF/Palo Alto.	Aug 3, 2012 3:55 PM
226	yes!!	Aug 3, 2012 12:26 AM
227	It would fun for the community.	Aug 2, 2012 1:33 PM

Q5. Would you like to see an event similar to “Off the Grid” or “Moveable Feast” in Sunnyvale?

228	Only if I can find out about it. Getting info about food truck locations without actively hunting it down is the most frustrating thing about them. The city should regulate (i.e. require permits for) such events, and then the city can publicize them through newsletters etc.	Aug 2, 2012 6:59 AM
229	It would totally be awesome and it could bring more money to the city of Sunnyvale	Jul 31, 2012 11:32 PM
230	Provides a new venue for community to gather. More food choices.	Jul 31, 2012 8:11 PM
231	I do not trust the food truck owners to pay taxes on their sales.	Jul 31, 2012 2:48 PM
232	It's a way to get exposure to new and different foods.	Jul 31, 2012 11:49 AM
233	i think this type of event draws in a lot of younger people from all over (which makes it more fun) and provides the rest of us with lot of interesting choices.	Jul 31, 2012 7:38 AM
234	It sounds very interesting!	Jul 31, 2012 2:26 AM
235	If Summer, an area under trees would be nice.	Jul 30, 2012 11:02 PM
236	Yes please! Movable Feast does dinners near my office once a week, and I would love to be able to attend in Sunnyvale as well. A lot of people walk to Movable Feast and it could even increase business to brick and mortars as people mill about before and after the event.	Jul 30, 2012 9:15 PM
237	Food trucks are becoming a major part of the trendy Bay Area food scene and it would be a shame to see Sunnyvale shut out of it.	Jul 30, 2012 8:54 PM
238	I personally don't really care, but I am guessing that there are others who would enjoy a variety of food items to purchase.	Jul 30, 2012 8:42 PM
239	These are more of a nuance. There must be better venues such as art & wine festival, fall festival, or farmer's market.	Jul 30, 2012 7:49 PM
240	Something new for the community and they offer a variety of food that can be enjoyed for fair prices. It's the latest and Sunnyvale should promote it.	Jul 30, 2012 7:44 PM
241	It could be a nice way to interact with others in the community. It's a good way to try different cuisine.	Jul 30, 2012 7:10 PM
242	Great way to be exposed to different types of food.	Jul 30, 2012 7:07 PM
243	yes, the food is good, there's many choices, price is reasonable, and its a fun outing for the whole family	Jul 30, 2012 5:12 PM
244	I think these events give people a unique dining experience.	Jul 30, 2012 4:22 PM
245	I have had excellent experiences with very good and reasonably priced food truck ethnic foods.	Jul 30, 2012 3:42 PM
246	It would be an enjoyable event and an opportunity to showcase Sunnyvale as a family friendly city.	Jul 30, 2012 3:33 PM

Q5. Would you like to see an event similar to “Off the Grid” or “Moveable Feast” in Sunnyvale?

247	I'm not familiar with those events so I can't say yes or no.	Jul 30, 2012 3:22 PM
248	What would that mean??? Eat where there is no electricity, why? Run along next to a moving meal, why?	Jul 30, 2012 3:15 PM
249	Absolutely yes!! Would love to have a Moveable Feast in Sunnyvale. It would be wonderful to have access to all of the wonderful, healthy and interesting foods without having to go to San Jose.	Jul 30, 2012 3:13 PM
250	I think it would be a great way to get people to use the parks.	Jul 30, 2012 1:17 PM
251	This opportunity to encourage new small businesses to form and grow while providing a great opportunity for community outreach at no cost to the City is fantastic.	Jul 30, 2012 1:03 PM
252	Why not? Provides a great option for residents of Sunnyvale. Should be some guidelines (not too restrictive) on where they can be held and traffic and health concerns.	Jul 30, 2012 12:43 PM
253	I like the value and choices food trucks offer.	Jul 30, 2012 12:41 PM
254	Sunnyvale has wonderful restaurants and the city should be promoting them.	Jul 30, 2012 12:03 PM
255	OMG YES	Jul 30, 2012 11:57 AM
256	Don't really care either way.	Jul 30, 2012 11:49 AM
257	To me, this is the way to have the food truck experience. Otherwise it's just more competition for restaurants.	Jul 30, 2012 11:30 AM
258	As long as permits, conditions and locations are required, followed and strictly enforced with monitoring at the time of the event.	Jul 30, 2012 11:25 AM
259	I have been thinking about attending an event like this, and would love it to be close.	Jul 30, 2012 11:12 AM
260	I would love to have an event like that.	Jul 30, 2012 11:11 AM
261	Sounds like fun - a night out with lots of food choices for everyone	Jul 30, 2012 11:11 AM
262	The quality of the food is questionable, the cleanliness of the server's hands is questionable, the cleanliness of the vehicle is questionable.	Jul 30, 2012 11:01 AM
263	It is a great opportunity to showcase the city especially with businesses around.	Jul 30, 2012 10:48 AM
264	Could greatly improve events such as the Art and Wine festivals and the live Wednesday night music in downtown in the summer.	Jul 30, 2012 10:44 AM
265	Unless they are under the same regulatory control as restaurants they should not operate in city.	Jul 30, 2012 10:40 AM
266	Yes I would love to attend, i;ve heard from ohter in san fran who have attended the events.	Jul 30, 2012 10:39 AM

Q5. Would you like to see an event similar to “Off the Grid” or “Moveable Feast” in Sunnyvale?

267	Especially at an event such as Wed Music downtown or Art & Fine or any other city event.	Jul 30, 2012 10:34 AM
268	I'm interested in the growing numbers of gourmet food trucks, and would like to try their cuisine.	Jul 30, 2012 10:30 AM
269	They should have a different tax in the city. There should be an additional 10% tax on the food since they are not paying any local expenses or other expensive taxes to the city like us brick-and-mortar people. We are getting killed in taxes and food trucks ignore them. They should have to pay extra to help even the playing field. Call it a surcharge if you want.	Jul 29, 2012 5:47 PM
270	unsafe no need to expose police or fire to these events	Jul 28, 2012 2:02 PM
271	I would appreciate a series of periodic events, say weekly. I think the trucks signal that the community is interested in innovation, and the atmosphere promotes the community as lively and promotes more foot traffic.	Jul 27, 2012 9:30 PM
272	Why WOULDNT Sunnyvale have one????	Jul 27, 2012 4:59 PM
273	Would love to have it be a regular event as long as there is enough space and parking available.	Jul 27, 2012 4:08 PM
274	yes! i currently have to go to other areas for this, and i usually end up spending time and money in that area as well. would rather do that locally!	Jul 27, 2012 3:22 PM
275	I enjoy food truck events and would like there to be more throughout the Bay Area. Each location provides a unique experience. I live in San Jose and would definitely travel to Sunnyvale for food trucks.	Jul 27, 2012 3:13 PM
276	There's plenty of businesses and spaces, including several lots on El Camino that would work.	Jul 27, 2012 2:48 PM
277	Great way for the communities to meet with each other. Be outside instead of inside watching TV.	Jul 27, 2012 2:26 PM
278	Definitely would like to see such a thing here. I frequently went to Edgewood Eats in PA and enjoyed not only the food but also engaging with others...a big social picnic.	Jul 27, 2012 2:20 PM
279	It would be a great way to get people interested in fodo trucks, but it would have to be done in a space that can deal with the crowds that form at these events.	Jul 27, 2012 10:41 AM
280	We have to drive South or North in order to enjoy food truck event, would love to see them in my neighborhood	Jul 27, 2012 8:50 AM
281	These events tend to draw people for the experience and the social enjoyment, though I am actually more a fan of individual small business success and see "food truck events" as a means to that end, not the end itself.	Jul 27, 2012 8:43 AM
282	I am not sure where it would take place, but it would have to be in a location that was not near (2-3 miles away) any existing restaurants.	Jul 26, 2012 10:14 AM
283	It would be fun! I have a family, and they all like different things. Moveable Feast	Jul 26, 2012 8:27 AM would be like an extra-cool food court.

284	I would like to see at least a "trial run" of it here, and see who else and how many would participate.	Jul 26, 2012 8:27 AM
285	It would be closer.	Jul 26, 2012 4:08 AM
286	I've heard they are great fun and people love them.	Jul 25, 2012 7:35 PM
287	We are always having to spend our money outside the city because the city doesn't have the caliber of choices and events that other cities do.	Jul 25, 2012 6:39 PM
288	Doesn't add significantly to the quality of life.	Jul 25, 2012 5:15 PM
289	Food safety is difficult to control and police in food trucks.	Jul 25, 2012 5:05 PM

Q6. Do you think there should be more food trucks in Sunnyvale?

1	There are not enough restaurant choices in Sunnyvale, especially near the tech parks.	Dec 4, 2012 4:18 PM
2	Need a "maybe" answer here. Depends on where they'd be operating.	Nov 13, 2012 11:17 AM
3	The culture and experience that gourmet food trucks bring are a new face of emerging experiences. They will show that Sunnyvale is on the forefront of accepting this change and "hip."	Nov 1, 2012 12:06 PM
4	see above.	Oct 31, 2012 5:56 PM
5	Easy for bringing my toddler.	Oct 31, 2012 3:27 PM
6	I'm a big fan of food trucks.	Oct 30, 2012 9:00 PM
7	I don't think there should be less.	Oct 30, 2012 8:18 AM
8	Great for employees in industrial/commercial/office areas to get a quick lunch w/o driving to a restaurant	Oct 29, 2012 12:49 PM
9	Food trucks bring greater variety.	Oct 26, 2012 5:20 PM
10	more food trucks means more lunch and dinner options.	Oct 25, 2012 1:37 PM
11	I haven't seen any food trucks in Sunnyvale	Oct 25, 2012 1:08 PM
12	But only if there is demand to support	Oct 25, 2012 11:30 AM
13	specialty trucks YES, roach coaches NO	Oct 25, 2012 11:20 AM
14	Love the variety, more options for quick lunch.	Oct 25, 2012 11:19 AM
15	The more the merrier	Oct 25, 2012 11:18 AM
16	Why not? It doesn't take business away from anyone -it just gives you options and as long as health standards are strict in all for it!	Oct 25, 2012 11:15 AM
17	This would provide a dynamic dining option for residents.	Oct 25, 2012 11:00 AM
18	perfect for mid-day lunch during work and great way to get good food fast!	Oct 25, 2012 10:48 AM
19	For truck owners they can't afford the high monthly costs of owning space. Food trucks aren't new, they've been around for a long time.	Oct 25, 2012 10:48 AM
20	It isn't a matter of "more or less" so much as it should be about quality and safety. "More" food trucks to bring a diversity of eating experience to Sunnyvale? Yes.; "More" food trucks just because it's trending and the city may think there is revenue in there somewhere? No.	Oct 25, 2012 10:46 AM
21	Some of the foods that the food trucks serve are unique to the truck and there isn't another place in Sunnyvale that has comparable items.	Oct 25, 2012 10:44 AM
22	There should be a healthy balance with first and foremost respecting brick and mortar locations.	Oct 25, 2012 10:32 AM

Q6. Do you think there should be more food trucks in Sunnyvale?

23	Like what we have. No need for more per se	Oct 24, 2012 11:47 AM
24	This will enable the residents to taste multi-cuisine	Oct 16, 2012 4:49 PM
25	Same as #5 (Great family fun, clean, no cost for the city, great source of revenue for the city)	Oct 9, 2012 12:37 PM
26	Help to make the area more modern	Oct 7, 2012 8:53 PM
27	Gourmet trucks with healthy faire	Oct 7, 2012 2:03 PM
28	Food trucks are excellent options for working stiff's like myself who have limited time over lunch break.	Sep 19, 2012 9:36 PM
29	I do not think enough food trucks stop in Sunnyvale because the city has not done anything to embrace their presence.	Sep 18, 2012 10:46 AM
30	Food trucks are the next era of dining out for everyone, and many food trucks offer exquisitely crafted food items that can't be purchased anywhere else, for a very good price. Also, while folks might not drive out for 1 food truck, they'll drive out for 5 or 6 in a localized place to try the different foods. Add music and you got it goin' on.	Sep 13, 2012 6:45 PM
31	In the office Park where we are, there are no good food choices without driving. There is no competition with nearby restaurants.	Sep 13, 2012 11:46 AM
32	I like to go out and with 3 kids we are limited	Sep 12, 2012 11:43 AM
33	These are great small businesses with excellent food. Need more entrepreneur opportunities	Sep 10, 2012 10:59 AM
34	There is a valid need for gourmet food trucks during weekday lunch hour in the industrial neighborhoods, especially Perry Park.	Sep 7, 2012 10:21 AM
35	I think they should be located in parks. People should be encouraged to use our parks.	Sep 7, 2012 8:02 AM
36	I think curb side food trucks are a dangerous and unnecessary method of dispensing food. They take away service from restaurants. How does the city police their cleanliness?	Sep 7, 2012 7:55 AM
37	Food trucks are a convenient and reasonable way to provide a variety of often excellent food at reasonable pricing. They are especially good at providing this in areas not blessed with walking-distance restaurants. Further, it's a good way to reduce car trips at business places for lunch.	Sep 7, 2012 7:39 AM
38	I frequent both food trucks and local restaurants. The variety is great and I'd like to see more trucks in Sunnyvale.	Sep 6, 2012 10:54 PM
39	They are really handy, especially for people who work in small companies w/o a cafeteria. There are a lot of industrial parks with little food and this makes lunch easier and quicker.	Sep 4, 2012 10:49 AM
40	If they serve areas with limited access to food options	Sep 4, 2012 7:49 AM

Q6. Do you think there should be more food trucks in Sunnyvale?

41	It would be nice to have some that we could walk to from work. Not many restruants nearby.	Sep 4, 2012 7:33 AM
42	More will be better, but still within limits.	Sep 2, 2012 10:27 AM
43	See my last answer. More competition might lower the prices which would be better for the customer.	Sep 2, 2012 9:23 AM
44	Give residents more options.	Sep 1, 2012 3:32 PM
45	I wouldn't have to travel outside of my area just to experience food trucks. There are certain trucks that don't make it out to this area and people won't get to experience the creative culinary creations food trucks offer.	Sep 1, 2012 10:48 AM
46	Maybe--if conveniently located and tasty	Aug 31, 2012 12:27 PM
47	Though I admit I don't live in Sunnyvale, I find if there is an event, I shop at stores near there for clothes groceries etc. I.E. Food truck event at X place on a Thursday night? I'll go to the Kohls nearest because I needed to go to Kohls anyway.	Aug 31, 2012 10:44 AM
48	Would love to support small businesses and have new options for lunch.	Aug 31, 2012 7:45 AM
49	See question #5	Aug 31, 2012 3:53 AM
50	Love my city, and would like for it to be close.	Aug 30, 2012 8:33 PM
51	I would like to see more of the varied trucks like I see at MF and OTG. Currently there only seems to be taco trucks with the exact same menu at the exact same locations.	Aug 30, 2012 7:24 PM
52	Neutral... as long as they aren't disruptive.	Aug 30, 2012 7:08 PM
53	Yes, diversity and choice opens up opportunity to experience new things.	Aug 30, 2012 3:42 PM
54	I love the quirky cuisines available, and it makes something available for everyone in the family's tastes.	Aug 30, 2012 3:17 PM
55	I love the quirky cuisines available, and it makes something available for everyone in the family's tastes.	Aug 30, 2012 3:17 PM
56	I understand these compete with established restaurants, but the food trucks provide a service (high quality, low cost, diverse food) that serves Sunnyvale residents.	Aug 30, 2012 2:00 PM
57	Current restaurants would have something to add to that. Do they pay sales tax? My guess is no!	Aug 30, 2012 12:26 PM
58	I think the existing trucks should just be regulated.	Aug 30, 2012 12:21 PM
59	Depends on where and their reputation. Yes for variety, no for the noise/trash they generate.Also, they get SV's business, do they contribute back? Curry Up Now sounds nice.	Aug 30, 2012 12:18 PM

Q6. Do you think there should be more food trucks in Sunnyvale?

60	I don't even know there are any now	Aug 29, 2012 11:29 PM
61	sometimes we don't want to eat the local chain fast food and it would be fun to eat from a truck	Aug 29, 2012 8:20 PM
62	Food trucks are efficient and bring more variety.	Aug 29, 2012 2:44 PM
63	Provide a wider variety of ethenic foods.	Aug 29, 2012 1:39 PM
64	It's a desirable service.	Aug 29, 2012 1:23 PM
65	Food diversity, somewhat, at your door step would be great.	Aug 29, 2012 12:30 PM
66	I think that too many food trucks travelling around and parking around the city can impact traffic and hurt brick and mortar restaurants.	Aug 29, 2012 12:12 PM
67	Adds more variety and makes Sunnyvale a destination for people from neighboring localities.	Aug 29, 2012 11:28 AM
68	I haven't seen any...although I'm not in Sunnyvale during the day, bc I work in Palo Alto where there many food truck options during lunchtime.	Aug 29, 2012 10:03 AM
69	Allowing more food trucks allows new trucks/businesses to come in & find their niche. Local residents/workers get new vendors to try.	Aug 29, 2012 8:45 AM
70	Moveable Feast!!! Woot!	Aug 29, 2012 7:35 AM
71	Sunnyvale needs more quick dining options, especially for the work lunch crowd.	Aug 29, 2012 12:32 AM
72	More variety and options	Aug 28, 2012 10:24 PM
73	in a specific place and time	Aug 28, 2012 9:39 PM
74	Variety and options	Aug 28, 2012 7:13 PM
75	Yes... I hate having to drive far to meet my favorite food trucks far from my Sunnyvale residence	Aug 28, 2012 7:05 PM
76	Allow a more variety of food business and allows entrepreneural spirit	Aug 28, 2012 6:54 PM
77	So the we can have diferent food on one stop	Aug 28, 2012 5:11 PM
78	Yes, in controlled settings like Moveable Feast puts together or Off The Grid events a.ong with others like them	Aug 28, 2012 5:09 PM
79	It offers convenience in dining, especially for those of us on a budget.	Aug 28, 2012 5:03 PM
80	Would temporarily help downtown/Murphy street area since construction is slow to finish	Aug 28, 2012 4:38 PM
81	Absolutely! The attraction to food trucks is partly cultural. Night out in casual spot, opportunity to try several items of different high quality gourmet food (small bites), supporting creative small businesses. I especially like to try trucks from established restaurants (NOT chain restaurants), love it when they have a	Aug 28, 2012 4:26 PM sampling from their menu, I am definitely encouraged to go try a 'sit down' dinner.

82	There are apparently so few food trucks in Sunnyvale, that until now I didn't think there were any.	Aug 28, 2012 4:09 PM
83	Again I prefer MtnView but i think MtnView is making it hard for the food trucks???	Aug 28, 2012 3:52 PM
84	See above :o)	Aug 28, 2012 3:46 PM
85	Sunnyvale is right in the middle of the major cities. Its about a 20 minute drive coming from North or South.	Aug 28, 2012 3:42 PM
86	I'm always looking for something quick and tasty! I'm not really a fan of fast food restaurants, but prefer privately owned places.	Aug 28, 2012 3:35 PM
87	The more, the merrier!	Aug 28, 2012 3:35 PM
88	More diversity in food options please!	Aug 28, 2012 3:12 PM
89	The more food trucks in Sunnyvale, The more I'd go out :p	Aug 28, 2012 3:06 PM
90	not enough!	Aug 28, 2012 2:48 PM
91	in the sunnyvale/cupertino area there are very few!	Aug 28, 2012 2:48 PM
92	I love the type of food they offer- not easily found in restaurants.	Aug 28, 2012 2:44 PM
93	Yes. In my part of Sunnyvale Lawrence and Tasman there are very few food options. I would love to see more trucks.	Aug 28, 2012 2:43 PM
94	Each truck has a specialty.	Aug 28, 2012 2:42 PM
95	I think food trucks are great way to introduce new fews to our communities in a fun and relatively inexpensive manner.	Aug 28, 2012 2:40 PM
96	i follow several trucks on twitter and facebook. there aren't many postings for sunnyvale.	Aug 28, 2012 2:38 PM
97	The only ones I have seen are taco trucks and I personally want an option with more creativity and healthy options.	Aug 28, 2012 2:35 PM
98	More variety is a plus. Its sometimes a hassle going to food meetup in san jose when there is traffic if we live in Sunnyvale.	Aug 28, 2012 2:34 PM
99	It is nice to have changing menus from talented people.	Aug 28, 2012 2:33 PM
100	feed my belly!!!	Aug 28, 2012 2:31 PM
101	Where I work (Mathilda and 237) is not close to a variety of quick place to eat for lunch. Having a variety of trucks in the area opens up the options for a good quick meal	Aug 28, 2012 2:30 PM

102	What's to explain? :)	Aug 28, 2012 2:29 PM
103	Again, options	Aug 28, 2012 2:29 PM
104	Sunnyvale does not seem to have as many food trucks as San Jose.	Aug 28, 2012 2:27 PM
105	Like any business, let the market set the demand.	Aug 28, 2012 2:26 PM
106	I sometimes dislike going really far to gain access to my favorite food trucks	Aug 28, 2012 2:26 PM
107	easy access for when i get out of work!	Aug 28, 2012 2:26 PM
108	Yes, I've only seen the Curry up Now truck and the taco trucks along El Camino. Would be nice to have more of a variety and put Sunnyvale on the map.	Aug 28, 2012 2:20 PM
109	food trucks provide variety in selection	Aug 28, 2012 2:13 PM
110	Variety is always awesome.	Aug 28, 2012 2:12 PM
111	always good to have variety and it is the buzz in the food world.	Aug 28, 2012 2:08 PM
112	more variety of trucks and more than one night a week	Aug 28, 2012 2:05 PM
113	It would be nice to know I have an extra choice at least one day per week. There are not too many good and healthy choice in my area (Maude and Mary). I would like to have more variety without going too far.	Aug 28, 2012 2:04 PM
114	Koja, mogo BBQ and an the go :)	Aug 28, 2012 2:02 PM
115	im hungry	Aug 28, 2012 2:01 PM
116	I would more food trucks but not throughout the whole city but located in one general area	Aug 28, 2012 1:58 PM
117	Food trucks are great at meeting a local demand for food at a given place and time, like popular hangout spots, street festivals, and so on	Aug 28, 2012 1:58 PM
118	Sunnyvale has some good restaurants, but not in some of the commercial areas.	Aug 28, 2012 1:56 PM
119	It would be a big hit	Aug 28, 2012 1:54 PM
120	I only see 1 or 2 here or they and they look scary	Aug 28, 2012 1:54 PM
121	It's a great alternative to eating out.	Aug 28, 2012 1:54 PM
122	Great variety and easy access.	Aug 28, 2012 1:54 PM
123	I've only seen one in Sunnyvale, which was a while ago and I don't think any have parked in Sunnyvale in months.	Aug 28, 2012 1:51 PM
124	The Sunnyvale area is only exceeded by Cupertino in lack of food truck activity.	Aug 28, 2012 1:50 PM
125	Options are quite limited right now, more options and space for these folks would be wonderful.	Aug 28, 2012 1:48 PM

126	Would love to see more quality trucks.	Aug 27, 2012 12:04 PM
127	Having the opportunity to eat quick and affordable food is good to those who work in the area as well as residents.	Aug 27, 2012 11:12 AM
128	It seems like there are actually a fair amount at lunchtime and farmers markets, but I didn't want to say no because I love food trucks! Maybe more often around dinner time?	Aug 27, 2012 10:18 AM
129	There's a great many food trucks available in the south bay area - they can bring many people from around the bay to Sunnyvale to eat at them.	Aug 27, 2012 8:38 AM
130	I think it will bring more business to Sunnyvale.	Aug 26, 2012 7:22 PM
131	see above.	Aug 26, 2012 5:15 PM
132	Food trucks at business parks really cut down on lunch road traffic. I think it is a good idea fo restaurants to have a food truck that goes to customers, rather than waiting for customers to find them. Also, it seems to be more environmentally-friendly to have the truck in a business park with customers coming on foot vs. cars.	Aug 24, 2012 8:16 AM
133	No opinion	Aug 23, 2012 8:52 PM
134	I'm concerned about the food safety on those trucks.	Aug 23, 2012 5:06 PM
135	There should always be more food trucks.	Aug 23, 2012 4:49 PM
136	See above	Aug 22, 2012 6:49 PM
137	I think food trucks provide additional (and welcome) dining options, particularly for those who can't easily leave work for lunch.	Aug 22, 2012 4:43 PM
138	As long as they have good food like the taco truck parked on El Camino near Toys R Us.	Aug 22, 2012 4:24 PM
139	Enjoyable variety from the different trucks. Regular appearances are helpful for planning.	Aug 22, 2012 4:13 PM
140	The south bay area is the most population dense with families and just regular folks, shouldn't they have access to the culture the rest of the bay area often enjoys merely due to the fact that San Francisco is more glamorous.	Aug 22, 2012 3:50 PM
141	Needed lunch/dinner option	Aug 22, 2012 3:11 PM
142	most of the restaurants in S'vale are crap (aside from a very very short list) most often, food trucks deliver way better quality and flavor.	Aug 22, 2012 11:47 AM
143	But focus on commerical areas or busy streets like El Camino.	Aug 22, 2012 11:42 AM
144	The more, the merrier! America is all about free enterprise. Competition breeds quality. The more food trucks there are, the better they will have to be to stay around.	Aug 22, 2012 11:38 AM

Q6. Do you think there should be more food trucks in Sunnyvale?

145	There is an occasional one here or there, but if there was a meetup of multiple trucks, I feel like it would appeal to a larger audience as a event instead of a way to grab a quick bite.	Aug 22, 2012 10:07 AM
146	I do think there should be a steady stream, but not so many that the trucks that come here can't be successful due to competition.	Aug 22, 2012 9:55 AM
147	Yes, especially gourmet food trucks	Aug 22, 2012 9:20 AM
148	There can never been too many food trucks!	Aug 21, 2012 5:12 PM
149	The more the better, cring them in and serve the Citizens of Sunnyvale	Aug 21, 2012 8:42 AM
150	City of Emeryville has invited truck to host their local event. Combined with Jazz signer, music and food. Older folks, kids were dancing together. It created a happy environment for the city. It's a win win situation for everyone.	Aug 19, 2012 11:48 PM
151	Food trucks are yummy.	Aug 19, 2012 11:20 PM
152	The trucks just dont tacos or sandwiches.	Aug 18, 2012 5:14 PM
153	Read above	Aug 18, 2012 3:39 PM
154	it would be awesome if food trucks in general were more available in this area	Aug 18, 2012 10:38 AM
155	I've only been to one food truck in Sunnyvale, and have seen a few parked along El Camino. It's not safe to have them parked on a main thoroughfare, especially if kids are coming with their parents.	Aug 17, 2012 1:10 PM
156	I think it would be great to have additional food options in our city, so people can follow them and eat on the run.	Aug 17, 2012 1:10 PM
157	We have a lot of food trucks that come to the city but I think most are based in San Jose.	Aug 17, 2012 12:47 PM
158	Trucks are okay and good, but needs to be regulated to serve office workers at their place of work. This will lessen overall traffic for the majority who drive to lunch. Giving them routes and key commercial/industrial office sites would be a plus for all of Sunnyvale.	Aug 17, 2012 8:51 AM
159	See question 5	Aug 16, 2012 3:26 PM
160	But I'm not down with gross roach coaches	Aug 14, 2012 5:24 PM
161	See above.	Aug 14, 2012 8:43 AM
162	I think it provides a fun option for food.	Aug 13, 2012 7:12 PM
163	Small businesses will help this economy. A food truck is more affordable than leasing space in a bldg.	Aug 13, 2012 6:21 PM
164	They can be inexpensive and tasty.	Aug 13, 2012 5:05 PM
165	I checked yes, although I'm not certain. I think yes, but the number should be	Aug 13, 2012 4:37 PM well regulated and taxed.

166	allow more variety	Aug 13, 2012 2:30 PM
167	Cleaper than purchasing in restaurant	Aug 13, 2012 1:52 PM
168	The Moffett Park area north of 101 has a particular lack of lunchtime brick-and-mortar dining options in proportion to the number of workers in the area. These trucks often provide the closest food option. It'd be great to see more and a variety of them in this area during lunchtime.	Aug 13, 2012 1:26 PM
169	Good food, and probably income for the city, what's wrong with that.	Aug 13, 2012 12:03 PM
170	would like to see them on the weekends	Aug 13, 2012 11:48 AM
171	It would be great to have some variety besides taco del oro.	Aug 13, 2012 9:57 AM
172	This is a popular trend and Sunnyvale should get on board.	Aug 13, 2012 9:12 AM
173	A great way to get a variety of food into new areas of the city	Aug 13, 2012 8:25 AM
174	They are under regulated, probably unhygienic, and a traffic hazard.	Aug 12, 2012 8:41 PM
175	My impression is that food trucks take business away from brick and mortar restaurants.	Aug 11, 2012 3:03 PM
176	I have no idea how many there already are.	Aug 10, 2012 8:21 PM
177	I don't really know of more than 1 or 2 that are in Sunnyvale occasionally.	Aug 10, 2012 12:37 PM
178	Sunnyvale currently lacks enough places to eat which makes Sunnyvale less attractive place to work.	Aug 10, 2012 10:11 AM
179	More selection	Aug 10, 2012 9:03 AM
180	I don't see very many near Caltrain, so, my answer is "yes".	Aug 10, 2012 8:54 AM
181	Current numbers seems reasonable.	Aug 10, 2012 8:51 AM
182	These are convenient, and often offer a variety vs. non-mobile fast food restaurants.	Aug 10, 2012 8:48 AM
183	Especially where I work, which is zoned for office space, there are no lunch spots within walking distance. So the food trucks fill that need.	Aug 10, 2012 8:45 AM
184	More competition = better product.	Aug 10, 2012 8:45 AM
185	Food trucks are fast and convenient.	Aug 10, 2012 7:46 AM
186	As long as appropriate locations can be found, and healthy food selections can be emphasized, great. We don't need more "Roach Coaches" that just sell the typical greasy fast food. A diversity of ethnic foods and healthy gourmet foods is what is needed.	Aug 9, 2012 5:39 PM

187	Food trucks would keep restaurant prices in check.	Aug 9, 2012 5:28 PM
188	They generate jobs.	Aug 9, 2012 2:48 PM
189	More choices for people is a good thing.	Aug 9, 2012 12:28 PM
190	More options is always good.	Aug 8, 2012 10:59 PM
191	Variety is good. Food trucks have low overhead and encourage experimentation.	Aug 8, 2012 8:30 PM
192	I enjoy the variety and they understand their customers have to get back to work.	Aug 8, 2012 3:36 PM
193	I don't think there needs to be more, but I like to have the option of eating at the food truck at my work.	Aug 8, 2012 3:24 PM
194	Better selection of food trucks.	Aug 8, 2012 3:02 PM
195	All of the food trucks.	Aug 8, 2012 1:34 PM
196	More Diverse options for lunch keeps people in the area for lunch and attracts companies that don't/can't provide lunch facilities.	Aug 8, 2012 1:24 PM
197	It's not always convenient to get to a location with lots of restaurants. Food trucks provide alternatives.	Aug 8, 2012 12:34 PM
198	Up to a certain point. We don't want them to become a nuisance by any means or to take too much business away from current restaurants.	Aug 8, 2012 11:51 AM
199	I love food trucks... they're fun and usually tasty!	Aug 8, 2012 10:54 AM
200	I'd like to see more, though I'm not sure how much more.	Aug 8, 2012 10:52 AM
201	Only for special events.	Aug 8, 2012 10:39 AM
202	Competition is good for quality of service.	Aug 8, 2012 9:49 AM
203	I wish I could count on having one every day near my office.	Aug 8, 2012 8:38 AM
204	Where I work there are NO food vendors of any kind within walking distance except the occasional food truck.	Aug 8, 2012 8:08 AM
205	Especially near Lockheed Martin and Yahoo, there is a complete lack of food options that don't involve a 10 minute drive.	Aug 8, 2012 8:01 AM
206	It seems like there is a sufficient variety already.	Aug 8, 2012 7:44 AM
207	The location of our office isn't close to any food sources and some of the delivery services are incredibly expensive for not great product. The food trucks provide an option to grab a quick bite without having to get in my car and drive. In addition the food is no longer the traditional food truck fare and often has healthy options. My other options if my schedule is too busy is either skipping lunch or hitting the vending machine - neither of which are great options.	Aug 8, 2012 7:35 AM
208	The locations where they are allowed should be where there is adequate parking	Aug 8, 2012 7:28 AM and not near other restaurants as the restaurants are paying rent.

209	Again, where we are located on Ross drive employees have to drive to get anything to eat. Having the trucks come to us is a very valuable benefit.	Aug 8, 2012 7:28 AM
210	I like food trucks because they offer more interesting and experimental food than traditional restaurants.	Aug 8, 2012 7:25 AM
211	It allows for different food to be tasted and it's convenient because the trucks go to different locations	Aug 7, 2012 10:12 PM
212	Dining options in Sunnyvale are limited.	Aug 7, 2012 3:55 PM
213	While there are many great restaurants in Sunnyvale, food trucks offer a unique experience and give people the chance to try food they might not otherwise get the chance to have.	Aug 7, 2012 2:47 PM
214	There aren't very many food options near where I work, we don't have a cafeteria, and it's good to have some convenience and variety in food options.	Aug 7, 2012 11:11 AM
215	They are convenient for full time employees. Especially when work is busy and I do not have time to go out to lunch and did not bring something from home.	Aug 7, 2012 10:49 AM
216	Absolutely.	Aug 7, 2012 9:35 AM
217	There are a good number already, but more variety never hurts	Aug 7, 2012 9:27 AM
218	I would really like to see coffee trucks and food trucks with healthier options, but I'm fairly satisfied with the trucks there are now.	Aug 7, 2012 9:24 AM
219	Yes especially on the 101 side of sunnyvale	Aug 7, 2012 8:42 AM
220	More variety at least.	Aug 7, 2012 8:22 AM
221	there are a lot of companies out here that benefit from having more trucks in the area	Aug 7, 2012 8:19 AM
222	Our office is in a location that isn't close to any lunch options. The convenience is nice.	Aug 7, 2012 7:58 AM
223	The more the merrier! Our employees love the variety of food trucks, and it would be awesome to know if we couldn't get a vendor booked at our offices, there would be other options near by.	Aug 7, 2012 7:52 AM
224	See above answer	Aug 7, 2012 12:01 AM
225	Foods types vary by location and day. It adds more interest to the local restaurants by keeping options fresh.	Aug 6, 2012 8:51 PM
226	Unclear to me how many food trucks are operating in Sunnyvale. Up to 1-2 events per week seems OK, but monitor to prevent nuisance.	Aug 6, 2012 6:27 PM
227	I'd like to see more variety and good quality.	Aug 6, 2012 6:14 PM

228	More everywhere!	Aug 6, 2012 5:03 PM
229	As many as want to be, as long as they park safely.	Aug 6, 2012 1:12 PM
230	I think that there are enough food trucks that operate in the Sunnyvale area already.	Aug 6, 2012 12:17 PM
231	Not really sure about this. I do like the idea of regulating where they can be, especially due to traffic and pedestrian issues as well as letting the brick and mortar places have a heads up as to when they will have competition.	Aug 6, 2012 9:13 AM
232	No food trucks	Aug 6, 2012 9:12 AM
233	They are unsightly and degrade the public's view of Sunnyvale thus, property values will fall. They are a threat to the public health since food safety is a significant risk with a food truck.	Aug 6, 2012 8:38 AM
234	Have seen food trucks in other cities and like the variety that it offers.	Aug 6, 2012 6:59 AM
235	Why not?	Aug 6, 2012 6:32 AM
236	I think the market should determine how many food trucks are in Sunnyvale. If food truck owners have discovered a location where they think enough people will want their food to make a profit, then let them make a go of it.	Aug 6, 2012 6:15 AM
237	This is more of a maybe. I think food trucks expand the diversity of food, just want to make sure they are well maintained, safe, clean, etc.	Aug 6, 2012 5:17 AM
238	Any time you can encourage small business to create good experiences for our community can only be seen as a positive.	Aug 5, 2012 10:40 PM
239	I enjoy the variety of food offered by food trucks. So far, I have not been to one in Sunnyvale (except at festivals) but would certainly eat there if it were offered.	Aug 5, 2012 10:08 PM
240	There are many hard working brick and mortar food business that offer the same kind of foods and have ample parking for consumers. Unlike other cities that may have challenges with parking and accessible meal options in certain neighborhoods (industrial, or high rise business buildings), Sunnyvale does not have these concerns, and continuous food trucks should not compete with tax paying businesses that most likely hire local residents as well.	Aug 5, 2012 10:06 PM
241	Sunnyvale's current, highly restrictive regulations for food trucks are aimed at the old "roach coaches," not at the new gourmet food trucks. I'd love to see a wider selection of trucks serving high-quality food in Sunnyvale.	Aug 5, 2012 9:38 PM
242	I think they are fun and offer a great way to add a bit of food adventure wherever they go.	Aug 5, 2012 9:26 PM
243	I actually do not have a preference one way or the other.	Aug 5, 2012 9:12 PM
244	No opinion - really	Aug 5, 2012 8:58 PM
245	I want more brick-and-mortar restaurants, not greasy, traffic blocking roach coaches	Aug 5, 2012 8:53 PM

Q6. Do you think there should be more food trucks in Sunnyvale?

246	I hear of wonderful food trucks in San Francisco, and have seen a few at Stanford University. I personally don't eat at restaurants, except for buying deli items at grocery stores or when I go to Stanford for events. I would love to eat good food from food trucks. I would prefer to buy good food from food trucks than go to a restaurant.	Aug 5, 2012 8:50 PM
247	it would be a great way to attract people to Sunnyvale. the other thing sunnyvale desperately needs to attract is a high quality brunch place. sometime like stacks . dennys, hobees and country gourmet doesn't cut it.	Aug 5, 2012 8:46 PM
248	not sure quality and safety can be guaranteed, although food booths at Fairs seem to have quality, freshness & safety controlled well.	Aug 5, 2012 8:28 PM
249	With the growing number of businesses in downtown, it'll be great to have another option for lunch than traditional restaurant or fast food.	Aug 5, 2012 7:41 PM
250	same answer as #5	Aug 5, 2012 1:48 PM
251	In the right environment, food trucks could help reduce commute traffic during lunch hours, etc.	Aug 5, 2012 2:29 AM
252	Sunnyvale lacks good eating establishments. Food trucks provides more options, and is free enterprise at it's best.	Aug 4, 2012 10:17 AM
253	Yes please! But, I do NOT think they should be a the Wednesday Downtown music nights. There's too many restaurants along that strip that deserve to receive sole benefit of patrons. However, the existing restaurants should also make it easier for consumers. Many of them have long wait times and minimal outdoor dining on Wednesday nights. They should offer more to-go foods and even set up outside to sell quickly to those who just want to stand and eat while watching the bands. If they cannot do this, then I would support the trucks for the Wednesday events.	Aug 4, 2012 10:14 AM
254	More competition means the crappy ones will hopefully go away.	Aug 3, 2012 3:55 PM
255	I wouldn't encourage or discourage any additional food trucks. If people want the trucks they'll be here, if not they won't come for economic reasons.	Aug 3, 2012 2:06 PM
256	Sometimes when I don't have time to eat at a full service restaurant, it would be nice to have an alternative to fast food. A taco truck offers a freshly cooked meal without all the fat.	Aug 3, 2012 9:28 AM
257	No, or yes? I don't know how many there are. Most of my food truck visits have been to Mountain View or San Jose. I haven't seen many in Sunnyvale.	Aug 2, 2012 6:59 AM
258	The idea of food trucks is good because us as employees don't have to travel that far. Trucks come to us	Jul 31, 2012 11:32 PM
259	Particularly for tech workers - there are many areas in the city without restaurants within walking distance. Plus having a variety of food is nice. Permits will provide revenue	Jul 31, 2012 8:11 PM
260	I worry some of the food truck owners might also being dealing drugs. I worry they might not pay their fair share of taxes.	Jul 31, 2012 2:48 PM

Q6. Do you think there should be more food trucks in Sunnyvale?

261	We should support our local businesses too. Too many may be hard to oversee.	Jul 31, 2012 9:52 AM
262	I've never seen one in Sunnyvale, so I think there's room for more.	Jul 31, 2012 8:14 AM
263	this is the type of food business that supports small business owners whom have great ideas but not enough capital to fund a more expensive fixed structure restaurant type facility.	Jul 31, 2012 7:38 AM
264	We have enough food available here.	Jul 31, 2012 6:30 AM
265	More of the interesting ones.... Like Curry Up Now	Jul 31, 2012 2:26 AM
266	Especially North	Jul 30, 2012 11:02 PM
267	Food trucks bring variety to areas where folks might be tired of the brick and mortar offerings, and maybe with some variety, they would want to go back to the brick and mortar establishments. Additionally, it adds variety to what I would consider 'fast food'.	Jul 30, 2012 9:15 PM
268	Food trucks with unique menu items give us more diversity of food choices.	Jul 30, 2012 8:51 PM
269	Restaurant with fixed store location provides a service to Sunnyvale residents by being available with fixed operating hours. The mobile food trucks should not be allowed to make quick profit at the expense of fixed-location restaurants, because in the long run, they will reduce the service level experienced by the residents of Sunnyvale.	Jul 30, 2012 7:49 PM
270	Yes, but within reason. If it impacts traffic or other food businesses, then it's too much.	Jul 30, 2012 7:10 PM
271	I only see a few. I know that some go to the more industrial areas, but I don't ever have occasion to go there.	Jul 30, 2012 7:07 PM
272	Same as #4 above	Jul 30, 2012 6:15 PM
273	We have enough places to buy prepared food. Besides, it only encourages more eating!	Jul 30, 2012 5:58 PM
274	No opinion but required a yes or no answer . I have enjoyed the taco truck on El Camino for years And would hate to see that go.	Jul 30, 2012 5:53 PM
275	convenient, fun food and fun events	Jul 30, 2012 5:12 PM
276	Only if they are not allowed to park by existing restaurants or maybe just have them in one particular area.	Jul 30, 2012 4:07 PM
277	I would enjoy selecting different ethnic foods in a food truck cluster at a farmers market.	Jul 30, 2012 3:42 PM
278	Sunnyvale needs more opportunities to draw people to clean well lighted events.	Jul 30, 2012 3:33 PM
279	I'm concerned about the food sanitation of and traffic safety around food trucks.	Jul 30, 2012 3:22 PM
280	I really have no opinion but not given that choice. Food trucks aren't bothering	Jul 30, 2012 3:15 PM me. I'd personally be worried about eating from one as it sounds harder to control and an event has less impact on an individual owner. Competition though is a good thing, so more is always better.

Q6. Do you think there should be more food trucks in Sunnyvale?

281	Only in planned group food truck events.	Jul 30, 2012 3:13 PM
282	They can provide new and interesting dining choices.	Jul 30, 2012 1:58 PM
283	I think food truck is not good for the city's image and "gangs" or unwanted activities can surround it.	Jul 30, 2012 1:25 PM
284	For me, the availability of a greater diversity of foods from different ethnic groups promotes a better understanding of a culture through what it eats.	Jul 30, 2012 1:03 PM
285	Yes, but they should be inside the parking lots, not on the streets where they can impede the free flow of traffic.	Jul 30, 2012 1:02 PM
286	Allow the residents to try different foods on a trial basis without the formality of going to a Brick and Mortar.	Jul 30, 2012 12:59 PM
287	Encourages more small businesses to exist in Sunnyvale, not to mention offer more food choices for consumers.	Jul 30, 2012 12:57 PM
288	Really haven't been many that I've seen- just very very few (maybe a few mexican trucks on El Camino). I'd love to have more options at more locations!	Jul 30, 2012 12:52 PM
289	This is an option for a small business to start-up and do something people like. Why not? Make sure the regulations keep the trucks in good order, food healthy and safe, and parking restricted so as not to cause traffic or other related issues.	Jul 30, 2012 12:43 PM
290	I like the value and choices food trucks offer. It would be nice if the trucks were close enough to walk to.	Jul 30, 2012 12:41 PM
291	Sunnyvale does not need more permanent food trucks. Lack of history. If someone gets sick, how to contact the truck.. origin of illness.. Food industry needs a lot of oversight	Jul 30, 2012 12:03 PM
292	Neither.	Jul 30, 2012 11:49 AM
293	Restaurants in Sunnyvale pay ungodly rents. A couple of guys in a truck don't face the same pressure. If allowed, you'd have to permit-fee the bejesus out of them to make it fair.	Jul 30, 2012 11:30 AM
294	How many is too many? WHO is to decide? Is "more" overkill? Is food quality and choice of nutritional, hunger or ethnic value? WHO is eating this food is related to permit conditions.	Jul 30, 2012 11:25 AM
295	It's not so much that I think there should be more, as I wouldn't mind if there were more.	Jul 30, 2012 11:12 AM
296	It's a relatively inexpensive option for busy folks	Jul 30, 2012 11:11 AM
297	Generally don't like them, they should be restricted to industrial areas where workers don't have too many lunch options, AND the occasional fairgrounds type	Jul 30, 2012 11:01 AM event but restricted to the outer portions or street parking, get them out of the parks..

298	A much more appealing option to typical "fast food" when you don't have time for a sit-down restaurant	Jul 30, 2012 10:44 AM
299	Food trucks should be under regulatory control. They should be hygienic, aesthetic looking and meet standards.	Jul 30, 2012 10:40 AM
300	Yes and No. Not sure if these trucks pay taxes for the business earned in Sunnyvale and they could hurt the local restaunt.	Jul 30, 2012 10:39 AM
301	This allows many different types of cuisines to be sampled by the public, and operate at high need times. I do have a concern about parking and traffic that may impact existing businesses that I frequent.	Jul 30, 2012 10:38 AM
302	There isnt enough diverse restaurants in Sunnyvale, I like the idea of different options from food trucks.	Jul 30, 2012 10:34 AM
303	Food trucks are often the exciting "startups" of restaurants-- some of the best and brightest, most creative chefs throughout the country are now choosing to operate trucks rather than conventional restaurants. We should welcome and encourage them to do business in Sunnyvale!	Jul 30, 2012 10:33 AM
304	Brick and Mortar business have a unfair disadvantage. Food trucks outside of downtown may be appropriate but with impact of downtown restaurants from the constant construction and mismanagement of the mall (by whoever) has had a very negative impact on individual business owners	Jul 30, 2012 10:29 AM
305	If they can serve areas that currently do not have adequate access to brick and mortar food services.	Jul 30, 2012 10:14 AM
306	Sure...as long as they have to pay more to the city. It is not fair that they can just roll up and take business away from other businesses with a ton of overhead.	Jul 29, 2012 5:47 PM
307	tey slow up traffic on el camino real	Jul 28, 2012 2:02 PM
308	In addition to more food trucks, I would like to see food trucks rotate through known locations and in more convenient locations.	Jul 27, 2012 9:30 PM
309	They are a great way to have above average food with below average prices...the Bay area is already too expensive.	Jul 27, 2012 4:59 PM
310	Great food, less expensive, faster, healthier than the typical "fast food", more variety.	Jul 27, 2012 4:08 PM
311	qualified yes: there seems to be very few in the areas of Sunnyvale I frequent, there does need to be some limit though.	Jul 27, 2012 3:22 PM
312	There should be more food trucks everywhere. These are creative small businesses that bring a lot of benefit to the cities and citizens they serve.	Jul 27, 2012 3:13 PM
313	Not more, necessarily. Just not less.	Jul 27, 2012 2:48 PM

314	Everyone should have access to choice and food trucks should have the ability to sell their food as long as they follow the rules.	Jul 27, 2012 2:26 PM
315	I like them particularly for lunch and make lunch dates with my husband to meet at a food truck during lunch time.	Jul 27, 2012 2:20 PM
316	For special events, but not all the time.	Jul 27, 2012 12:45 PM
317	I have no clue where there are now except for the taco truck on El Camino so having more in public areas would be fun.	Jul 27, 2012 10:41 AM
318	the more the merrier	Jul 27, 2012 8:50 AM
319	Since it's been over a decade since the decimation of Downtown Sunnyvale began, having a variety of new sales tax revenue generators in the city seems like a great idea.	Jul 27, 2012 8:43 AM
320	I think that food trucks only work in large urban areas like San Francisco. They are for walk up only business and do not belong in cities that are built in a sprawl format instead of a highrise zoning.	Jul 26, 2012 10:14 AM
321	Fun and add life to certain areas.	Jul 26, 2012 8:27 AM
322	I would like to see diversity, and know exactly where I would be able to find which foods.	Jul 26, 2012 8:27 AM
323	A central location for food trucks could be fun. That way people would know where to go to look for the trucks.	Jul 26, 2012 7:53 AM
324	I work at 333 W El Camino, on the corner of S Mathilda Avenue, there are not many 'cheap' options for lunch around there within walking distance, it would be good to see more food trucks in the area at lunchtimes so as not to have to go to a restaurant.	Jul 26, 2012 2:22 AM
325	In Seattle and Portland, they provide a nicely different dining experience.	Jul 25, 2012 9:48 PM
326	They come to our office park and I have concerns about liability since they do not provide us with insurance certificates and we don't have any control over their actions on our property.	Jul 25, 2012 7:35 PM
327	In Sunnyvale there's basically chain restaurants and Indian restaurants. There's is a huge gap in food choices available in Sunnyvale. Murphy avenue is great but just a few choices that get boring after awhile. We need to support local residents and businesses that provide us with choices.	Jul 25, 2012 6:39 PM
328	Don't contribute any lasting benefit to the city, are transient and do compete with "brick and mortar" businesses that have a high cost structure.	Jul 25, 2012 5:15 PM
329	Food safety is difficult to control and police in food trucks.	Jul 25, 2012 5:05 PM

Q7. Which types of regulations do you think Sunnyvale should have for food trucks? (May choose more than one.)

1	Stopping and parking requirements- IE- not to park on the side of the road of a major street- but in a parking lot.	Nov 26, 2012 5:29 PM
2	2 hours would not be long enough. I'd go for a minimum of 3.	Nov 13, 2012 11:17 AM
3	Limit the amount of time a food truck can stay in one location (e.g. 2 hours for lunch, 4 hours for dinner)	Nov 1, 2012 12:06 PM
4	There should be standards for food preparation, handling, and storage to make sure food safety regulations are followed.	Oct 30, 2012 8:18 AM
5	spot-check inspection for safty of food storage, cooking, cleanliness, ets	Oct 25, 2012 11:52 AM
6	dear s'vale, why is this an issue? dont you have more important business to tend too?	Oct 25, 2012 11:20 AM
7	hopefully the city of Sunnyvale can study what other cities in the US are doing and implementing to reach a positive result for all parties.	Oct 25, 2012 10:59 AM
8	Limit the hours from 8 am to 10pm. Near by my house they operate until 2AM and it cause noise	Oct 24, 2012 1:44 PM
9	Permits for safety are basic, but a registration in Sunnyvale ensures that the city knows the business is operating within city limits.	Sep 19, 2012 9:36 PM
10	The recommended regulations either encourage or regulate the food trucks, not both. What is the city's priority?	Sep 16, 2012 11:08 PM
11	I think a basic City permit might not be a bad idea and they HAVE to follow health standards, but they are not stationary restaurants and should not have to follow the same rules that typical restaurants do. However, basic cleanliness and safety, with fire extinguishers and recyclable garbage, is a must in this day and age. Just my thoughts.	Sep 13, 2012 6:45 PM
12	Require city business license but no specific location or other restrictions. They already have state and county food permits. There are existing parking regulations	Sep 13, 2012 4:24 PM
13	Limit their locations to outlying industrial areas.	Sep 7, 2012 7:55 AM
14	"....certain standards" - especially health standards.	Sep 2, 2012 9:23 AM
15	as little as possible....	Aug 31, 2012 5:19 PM
16	Not my area of expertise.	Aug 31, 2012 7:45 AM
17	Don't limit. As soon as you start to put limits, all the good trucks will go elsewhere where there are no limits and Sunnyvale will be left with the crappy 'desperate one'.	Aug 30, 2012 9:52 PM
18	Permit from the city for public property and permit from the owner if private property. In all cases, there should be minimum hygiene and food prep standards.	Aug 30, 2012 7:08 PM

Q7. Which types of regulations do you think Sunnyvale should have for food trucks? (May choose more than one.)

19	No regulations other than some reasonable health inspections.	Aug 30, 2012 3:17 PM
20	No regulations other than some reasonable health inspections.	Aug 30, 2012 3:17 PM
21	I wouldn't be opposed to keeping them away from restaurants, or limiting times (though it should be at least 2-3 hrs). Aside from safety, there should be no limits on food trucks on private property, and I think they should be allowed on city streets.	Aug 30, 2012 2:00 PM
22	All the options should be reviewed with comment on all.	Aug 30, 2012 12:26 PM
23	I think a test drive/needs assessment is in order? Not sure.	Aug 30, 2012 12:18 PM
24	I believe the fewer regulations the better in order to promote creativity and business in Sunnyvale. I also believe, however, we should have minimum safety standards for food vendors similar to those in which restaurants must comply.	Aug 29, 2012 5:25 PM
25	Food trucks bring cockroaches, so they should be disallowed in residential areas.	Aug 29, 2012 4:39 PM
26	The permit should be very small but not so small to be an unfair advantage to the brick and mortar restaurants.	Aug 28, 2012 7:46 PM
27	The time limit is a good idea, so neighbors aren't annoyed by crowds and noise, but the limit should be at least 3 hours. That's a decent amount of time to be worth it for both vendors and customers.	Aug 28, 2012 5:17 PM
28	Allow food trucks the meet all city and county permits such its Heath department and city business licence	Aug 28, 2012 5:11 PM
29	Limit proximity to restaurants (I.e. can't park within 100 feet of restaurant offering same type of food)	Aug 28, 2012 2:44 PM
30	They shouldn't interfere with brick and mortar restaurants	Aug 28, 2012 2:41 PM
31	I see a particular food truck parked on El Camino near Sunnyvale/Saratoga located in front of the Safeway shopping center for hours at a time and days in a row. The purpose of a food truck is to be mobile. I personally think if a truck is in the same area for hours and days at a time they should have to find a permanent place for the restaurant. At that point you are basically using a public street rent free.	Aug 28, 2012 2:35 PM
32	I think you should offer wide latitude to food trucks and only limit their operations insofar as they are substantially disruptive to the public order. I would not endorse any regulation beyond, say, "have a trash can."	Aug 28, 2012 2:33 PM
34	Food safety standards similar to fixed restaurants (possibly more relaxed, where practical)	Aug 28, 2012 1:58 PM
35	need regional regulations rather than individual city regs	Aug 28, 2012 1:58 PM

Q7. Which types of regulations do you think Sunnyvale should have for food trucks? (May choose more than one.)

36	Noise is a problem, so limit any outdoor music.	Aug 28, 2012 1:51 PM
37	I love having many food trucks to choose from.	Aug 28, 2012 1:51 PM
38	I don't know.	Aug 27, 2012 1:30 PM
39	Limit types of trucks maybe. Not sure on that. Too many of the same type of truck might be bad but at least try it out	Aug 26, 2012 5:15 PM
40	Please consider minimal municipal interference.	Aug 24, 2012 10:33 PM
41	Is necessary appropriate training and observance of hygienic practices for the food handler, requiring laboratory testing.	Aug 23, 2012 5:06 PM
42	They should certainly follow the same health / cleanliness standards as restaurants, but other than that I see no reason to proactively restrict them before any sort of trouble develops.	Aug 23, 2012 4:49 PM
43	Get with it!	Aug 22, 2012 3:11 PM
44	Require a specific city permit when a food truck operates on public property.	Aug 22, 2012 1:43 PM
45	Would prefer events only on public property much like Redwood City has one every wednesday at the hiller aviation museum	Aug 22, 2012 12:05 PM
46	Beyond ensuring that food trucks are upholding a high standard of health and safety, just as any brick and mortar restaurant would have to, I think that regulations should be kept to a minimum. We are rapidly regulating ourselves to the point of losing what makes this country so great: the ability to be enterprising. To carve out our own niches as entrepreneurs. A basic business license and proper tax arrangements would be as far as I would go when it comes to regulating food trucks.	Aug 22, 2012 11:38 AM
47	Make sure it doesn't take up too much public parking space and should be located the furthest away from the entrance to public buildings if parked in the parking lot.	Aug 14, 2012 12:13 PM
48	I'm not really sure about the city permit. I don't know what that involves and if it would benefit the city or discourage trucks from coming here. Also, I would assume operations on private property would require approval of the property owner/operator. In any case, standards cleanliness, health inspections, etc. should be enforced.	Aug 14, 2012 11:56 AM
49	I don't have a complete understanding of the food industry regulations. I think they should be held to standards similar to restaurants, but allowed to function in most places.	Aug 13, 2012 7:12 PM
50	Some food safety permits should be required to keep people safe.	Aug 13, 2012 6:25 PM
51	Enforced food-handling standards and fines for failure to properly handle foodstuffs in a safe, hygienic manner.	Aug 13, 2012 4:37 PM
52	All trucks should have a City permit to conduct business	Aug 13, 2012 1:52 PM

Q7. Which types of regulations do you think Sunnyvale should have for food trucks? (May choose more than one.)

53	Limit the amount of time a food truck can stay in one PUBLIC location (ex. public street). If trucks make arrangements to be semi-permanent fixtures on private property (ex. the food stand in the Home Depot parking lot), that should be allowed, but the amount of time spent parked on a public street should be limited.	Aug 13, 2012 1:26 PM
54	as few restrictions as possible	Aug 10, 2012 5:18 PM
55	Trucks should need standards on food handling, cleanliness, etc. Adequate trash receptacles provided, or trucks are parked in places that have trash/recycling.	Aug 10, 2012 12:37 PM
56	For special events like "Off the Grid" or "Moveable Feast" the time limit would be extended as well as the limit on the # of food trucks.	Aug 10, 2012 8:54 AM
57	Perhaps they shouldn't be too close to schools or other, more-permanent restaurants. But make sure these regulations don't have a chilling effect on food trucks.	Aug 10, 2012 8:45 AM
58	Brick and mortar restaurants need operating permits so food trucks should have relevant permits as well. However, the choices for this question do not help me understand the types of standards/conditions the City feels it needs to impose on food trucks. I'd be in favor of reasonable standards/conditions but against anything overly restrictive. As you communicate on this issue, please help clarify the elements under consideration.	Aug 10, 2012 7:46 AM
59	If you put up too many barriers, they will easily just go down the street to mountain view, Santa Clara and Los Altos and have Sunnyvale out of the picture.	Aug 9, 2012 7:36 PM
60	The location of these vehicles can be used to revitalize some areas, such as shopping malls that are in decline, or to help schools and community organizations raise funds by hosting the events. In other words, try to be purposeful in the planning aspect of this so there is some community benefit.	Aug 9, 2012 5:39 PM
61	Don't let food trucks undermine brick and mortar businesses by allowing extended stays.	Aug 9, 2012 5:28 PM
62	Limit them only to commercial (non-residential) areas.	Aug 8, 2012 10:54 AM
63	There should be a bay-area wide standard, but since food trucks move around, it makes little sense for each city to permit them.	Aug 8, 2012 8:55 AM
64	Limit number of food trucks per operator	Aug 8, 2012 8:49 AM
65	Just ensure food safety and make sure they don't bother residential areas.	Aug 8, 2012 8:38 AM
66	If there are moveable feasts they would need to be allowed to be there for more than 2 hours.	Aug 8, 2012 7:28 AM
67	If you need/want to regulate it, make is such they can actually DO business and continue to provide a very valuable service to the employers on the community.	Aug 8, 2012 7:28 AM
68	Private property - as long as it meets health standards, should be allowed - It is	Aug 7, 2012 9:02 PM

Q7. Which types of regulations do you think Sunnyvale should have for food trucks? (May choose more than one.)

	up to the private property to determine if they are allowed or not. Public property - should be permit based.
69	I like a combination of the first two: issue permits liberally to monitor absorption and defer to health/safety standards. Tinker with legislation as warranted as the program establishes itself. I would support certain reasonable, but not arbitrary or overbearing, limitations on numbers per location and operating hours	Aug 7, 2012 3:55 PM
70	On private property, food trucks should be required to meet the same standards and have the same permits as caterers. On public property they should be required to have a permit and meet the same standards as restaurants.	Aug 7, 2012 9:24 AM
71	Why do we want to regulate this beyond ensuring the food trucks are clean and have permission from private property owners to park? If there's demand, the food trucks will come. If not, they won't.	Aug 7, 2012 8:22 AM
72	questions are unclear. for example, "on private property" is OK for 1-2 trucks coming to a company for lunch, but large events without permits may be an issue. Sample regulations could allow companies to have 1-2 trucks for lunch without permits, but also allow a blanket permit for an organization such as Moveable Feast with specific frequency, locations, and amount of time.	Aug 6, 2012 6:27 PM
73	Preferably no food trucks in the City of Sunnyvale.	Aug 6, 2012 2:52 PM
74	A blanket exemption for limited activity without requiring a business license. An everyday seller should be required to have a business license. The county health department should handle any health related concerns, NOT the city.	Aug 6, 2012 1:12 PM
75	Keep trucks away from public schools.	Aug 6, 2012 10:35 AM
76	Are you trying to put restaurants out of business???Does the city need money this bad?	Aug 6, 2012 9:12 AM
77	Prohibit them since they degrade the reputation of the city and are a health hazard.	Aug 6, 2012 8:38 AM
78	Obviously, food trucks on private property must be with the consent of the property owner.	Aug 6, 2012 6:15 AM
79	conduct random truck inspections	Aug 6, 2012 5:42 AM
80	It's hard to come up with fixed limits as it depends on the situation. Perhaps if 3 or more will be at one location then a special event permit should be required. As for permits, as long as they have to follow inspection standards similar to a restaurant (but appropriate for a food truck) at the city, county, or state level, that is fine. Perhaps this should cover any moveable food establishment (truck, trailer, tent) that costs more than $500 or $1000 or more than $200 of food may be sold -- or something like that. Would like to exempt kid lemonade stands but include everyone else that is doing serious business. It is important to define what a food truck is and what the objectives are for permits/regulations. Are they already covered by sufficient regulation at county or state level?	Aug 6, 2012 5:17 AM
81	As long as the trucks operate within the standards for safe eating experiences,	Aug 5, 2012 10:40 PM

Q7. Which types of regulations do you think Sunnyvale should have for food trucks? (May choose more than one.)

	we should encourage them to operate in Sunnyvale -- it's good for our community.
82	I don't think the food trucks need to be regulated.	Aug 5, 2012 9:39 PM
83	I don't know whether a specific city permit is necessary, but I definitely think food trucks should be held to high standards of sanitation and, as far as possible, quality.	Aug 5, 2012 9:38 PM
84	I would like to see the regulations minimized at first. If problems develop, regulations can be added. Not in favor of fixing problems that don't yet exist. Stick to common sense regulations (such as not impeding traffic, parking where customers can park.)	Aug 5, 2012 9:26 PM
85	Require that food trucks cannot park within XX feet of a competitive brick/mortar restaurant.	Aug 5, 2012 9:12 PM
86	I think there shouldn't be too many roadblocks unless issues arise. Start with few regulations and then revise if necessary. The trucks will come if they have business and it is worthwhile for them. Make it easy for them and make it easy for customers. But the city can make some fees off permits and then use those fees for something like better parks/public spaces or even donate part of the permit fees to second harvest or sunnyvale comm services. do good with it.	Aug 5, 2012 8:46 PM
87	Limit locations available to food trucks (e.g. a certain distance from brick and mortar restaurants)	Aug 5, 2012 8:44 PM
88	have a health & safety inspection for food, vehicle & operations before permit is allowed	Aug 5, 2012 8:28 PM
89	Should require written permission of property owners if on private property. Should be some way of controlling litter from them. Should be subject to health inspections, like a regular restaurant. Prohibit "ice cream truck bell/music" or similar sounds. Require trash cans, to discourage litter. Prohibit within a few hundred feet of residential areas after 9:00.	Aug 5, 2012 2:29 AM
90	Public parking and traffic on Saturday/Farmers market is already bad. Ensure that event places/times do not prevent residents from being able to easily transit/park. (four hours is a good limit if clogging public areas or shopping centers becomes necessary)	Aug 3, 2012 3:55 PM
91	Of course all trucks should meet SC county health dept requirements. And should be permitted by them to operate in SC county.	Aug 2, 2012 12:25 PM
92	They should never stay more than 30 minutes on one spot.	Aug 2, 2012 11:10 AM
93	Allow all food trucks to operate on private and public streets with a business license	Jul 31, 2012 11:32 PM
94	Limit their operation procedures. Have a minimum of 3 garbage cans around the truck Have a minimum of two tables for customers so that private property is not used by customers. Have trucks use easily biogradable products. Limit the smells from certain foods near private residences. Have food trucks operate on a	Jul 31, 2012 10:31 PM

Q7. Which types of regulations do you think Sunnyvale should have for food trucks? (May choose more than one.)

	rotating schedule so not to have Indian or Mexican foods every day of the week.
95	I would want permits and I wouldn't want them wandering around residential areas.	Jul 31, 2012 11:49 AM
96	there should be some parameters but not too rigorous so as to be discouraging.	Jul 31, 2012 7:38 AM
97	They should be subject to inspections appropriate for this type of food preparation to ensure food safety.	Jul 31, 2012 6:30 AM
98	Should be subject to health regulations for certain	Jul 31, 2012 2:26 AM
99	I agree that you should limit the hours so they only really handle overflow during peak hours, and don't pull too much business from brick and mortar establishments. Permits seem like a hassle, but there should definitely be standards they will adhere to, to maintain a community feeling.	Jul 30, 2012 9:15 PM
100	Limit the food trucks to location where there are no other alternatives to prepared foods within a reasonable radius. They ought to be providing service, not making profits at the expense of others who are also providing service but with more overhead and consistency (location and availability such as hours).	Jul 30, 2012 7:49 PM
101	Other than designated "movable feast" events or locations, the number of food trucks per location on public property should be limited.	Jul 30, 2012 6:15 PM
102	Leave things as they are. Food trucks are tacky.	Jul 30, 2012 5:26 PM
103	require regular health and food safety inspections.	Jul 30, 2012 3:22 PM
104	Should be balanced with whatever is required of local business owners while NOT removing competition with them. So fair and balanced, not giving an advantage to either brick and mortar OR trucks. Minimized control except as necessary to protect health and safety. Definitely not anti-competitive, like where, how many, duration.	Jul 30, 2012 3:15 PM
105	I am unsure of the permit allowance. We should do what other cities have done successfully. We should definitely require certain safety for food and property standards. Allow enough time at dinner - say 3-4 hours - so lines aren't too long.	Jul 30, 2012 3:13 PM
106	Just try to regulate the cleanliness and safety of the food, as with a brick and mortar restaurant.	Jul 30, 2012 1:58 PM
107	Limit the locations where they can park... there should be adequate customer parking wherever they hang-out.	Jul 30, 2012 1:02 PM

Q7. Which types of regulations do you think Sunnyvale should have for food trucks? (May choose more than one.)

checks monthly.. paid by them.

111	I think that for the most part food trucks are wonderful unrestricted, except for a couple of places: Super Busy Streets, or Super Narrow Streets as they can cause safety issues (although people double parking in general will cause the issue as well)	Jul 30, 2012 11:57 AM
112	Limit food trucks to commerical and public property (not residential).	Jul 30, 2012 11:49 AM
113	Permit "conditions" must specify total number and amount of time as well as how many, when and where - public or private locations, etc.	Jul 30, 2012 11:25 AM
114	Not to park on El Camino and create a danger to others. For example the Indian food truck parked on El Camino and Remington.	Jul 30, 2012 10:39 AM
115	I am not sure whether permits should be required, especially for visiting food trucks from other areas. I think food trucks should be encouraged.	Jul 30, 2012 10:30 AM
116	Not sure	Jul 30, 2012 10:30 AM
117	Not sure about the limiting. I don't think it is appropriate to allow them to operate within 1000 feet of an existing food store front since they are not paying for any of the expenses to make the neighborhood more attractive to customers. The people paying rent should not be hurt because they can just sneak in and out when they want.	Jul 29, 2012 5:47 PM
118	food trucks are hurting restaurants they discount food they dont pay rent	Jul 28, 2012 2:02 PM
119	I think that food trucks should be under some health and safety regulation by the city, though a uniform standard with other Peninsula cities would probably benefit all involved. I think installations should be transient to discourage blight.	Jul 27, 2012 9:30 PM
120	I have a feeling the attempts to regulate come from existing fixed location restaurants that dont want the competition....city is well within their rights to permit these trucks but not limit competition	Jul 27, 2012 4:59 PM
121	permitting and standards should be similar to that of any other restaurants, limits (both number and time) should be flexible to allow for special events	Jul 27, 2012 3:22 PM
122	I think a balance should be struck that does not negatively affect SV restaurants, esp on Murphy.	Jul 27, 2012 2:20 PM
123	I can see where having trucks in residential areas may cause issues with residents living in and near the area. While residential operation shouldn't be completely disallowed, special permit might be appropriate. Otherwise, these are businesses, they should be encouraged in every way as long as they operate according to health codes and other food service regulations.	Jul 27, 2012 8:43 AM
124	Limit the distance from existing restaurants to a minimum of 3 miles away.	Jul 26, 2012 10:14 AM
125	Standard requirements for truck operation	Jul 26, 2012 7:53 AM
126	I'd prefer to only require a permit on pubic property.	Jul 26, 2012 4:08 AM

Q7. Which types of regulations do you think Sunnyvale should have for food trucks? (May choose more than one.)

127	They should be required to lease space from owners just like any other restaurant would do and be required to provide an insurance certificate before operating on private property.	Jul 25, 2012 7:35 PM
128	Not in Residential Neighborhoods unless on the curb or parking lot of a park.	Jul 25, 2012 6:39 PM
129	demand strict food safety guidelines.	Jul 25, 2012 5:05 PM

Q8. Where do you think food trucks should be allowed to locate in the City? (May choose more than one.)

1	I think that having them in residential neighborhoods could cause problems. I'm not sure about being by schools. It could be good, but it also depends on what they serve too. Our kids already have a huge problem with obesity, high blood pressure, and diabetes.	Sep 13, 2012 6:45 PM
2	Festivals and outdoor events	Sep 12, 2012 11:43 AM
3	Only K-12 Schools if have permission from the school.	Sep 6, 2012 10:16 AM
4	On private property, if the property owner allows it.	Sep 2, 2012 9:23 AM
5	The rec center?	Sep 1, 2012 7:35 AM
6	I believe that food trucks should be allowed to operate in most areas so long as they don't pose an issue with traffic flow.	Aug 31, 2012 10:29 AM
7	where they would not be disruptive to residents or traffic.	Aug 30, 2012 7:08 PM
8	Food Trucks should be allowed to park on private property given that permission was granted to do so.	Aug 30, 2012 3:42 PM
9	Anywhere except in residential neighborhoods (and maybe lunchtimes near schools if that's seen as a problem).	Aug 30, 2012 2:00 PM
10	Review all options. The problem will be fighting for prime locations.	Aug 30, 2012 12:26 PM
11	As long as they take some ownership of their impact... trash etc. I'm very open.	Aug 30, 2012 12:18 PM
12	Schools or churches would be OK for special fund-raising events	Aug 28, 2012 4:36 PM
13	Maybe a fund raiser for local schools...Show up on a Fri or Sat for a couple hours in parking lot and a portion goes to the school.	Aug 28, 2012 3:52 PM
14	Seriously basically anywhere. Restaurants and convenience stores are allowed everywhere; food trucks can be a great addition to any area.	Aug 28, 2012 2:12 PM
15	Other large streets or streets nearby El Camino	Aug 28, 2012 1:52 PM
16	I don't know.	Aug 27, 2012 1:30 PM
17	where they are wanted	Aug 26, 2012 7:22 PM
18	Anywhere they have permission. I love food truck idea. They have to have permits to run one. I don't think more permits should be required. Just that theirs are current	Aug 26, 2012 5:15 PM
19	Other than the crowds that might disturb residential neighborhoods, As long as the space would support the numbers that would gather, I have no specific area concerns.	Aug 24, 2012 10:33 PM
20	In general, I think food trucks should be accessible to different types of communities where people frequently gather. Business, teens, and families are communities that would benefit from having food trucks gather in areas such as business parks and public parks.	Aug 24, 2012 8:16 AM

Q8. Where do you think food trucks should be allowed to locate in the City? (May choose more than one.)

21	I imagine they should have the property owner's permission if they want to be on private property....	Aug 23, 2012 4:49 PM
22	Businesses should be allowed to operate freely. I am not of the mindset that food trucks are in any way damaging to the business of brick and mortar restaurants. In high-traffic commercial areas, they can only increase the draw for people to get out of their cars and walk around. I also do not believe that there is anything wrong with having them near schools. Kids can easily walk to permanent shops from many schools and no one seems concerned about that. In my experience, much of the food from food trucks is much tastier and healthier than what you might find in, say, a fast food restaurant. The prices tend to be reasonable—something that would particularly appeal to high school students. Rather than keeping food trucks out, I believe schools should welcome them. Many high schools have open campuses. Students would be far more likely to stick close to campus (and less likely to cut class) if there were a few cool food trucks right in the parking lot. Health and safety standards are the only realistic concern when it comes to any kind of food, so beyond that, I believe in a hands-off approach.	Aug 22, 2012 11:38 AM

25	Schools like to book trucks for PTA fundraisers.	Aug 21, 2012 10:08 PM
26	I don't mind seeing food trucks in parks within residential neighborhoods if they are situated in the parking lot.	Aug 17, 2012 1:10 PM
27	1. Near Mission College 2. As close to that STUPID STADIUM as possible!	Aug 13, 2012 4:37 PM

29	in the sky with diamonds	Aug 10, 2012 5:18 PM
30	I see no problems with any of there, as long as they obey traffic and other laws and are not in the way. Food trucks are a nice alternative for neighborhood get togethers, and may be a draw for school events.	Aug 10, 2012 12:37 PM
31	I do not agree with them being in residential neighborhoods.	Aug 10, 2012 7:46 AM
32	Only allow healthy purveyors of food near schools. The last thing kids need is more junk food.	Aug 9, 2012 5:39 PM
33	Such as the empty lot at Sunnyvale/Saratoga and Remington	Aug 8, 2012 10:39 AM
34	I like the moveable feasts idea and that would need to be in a large parking lot not being used at the time of the feast.	Aug 8, 2012 7:28 AM
35	I don't think location restrictions are important to have generally, though there may be some isolated instances where prohibitions make sense.	Aug 7, 2012 3:55 PM
36	Why limit them?	Aug 7, 2012 12:01 AM

Q8. Where do you think food trucks should be allowed to locate in the City? (May choose more than one.)

37	Sunnyvale Golf courses, until a new "permanent" food vendor is arranged. I've heard that occasionally a food truck has been used at a K-12 fundraising event. Seems okay, but I didn't go so I don't know what the school's nearest neighbors think about that.	Aug 6, 2012 7:29 PM
38	No Food Trucks in Sunnyvale.	Aug 6, 2012 2:52 PM

40	only in areas where the zone is permitted for business/ commercial use. this should not be in any residential areas	Aug 6, 2012 12:17 PM
41	I think some of these trucks provide the opportunity for fundraising for PTAs, so they would need to be allowed near schools. Again, my biggest concern is safety for pedestrians and general traffic.	Aug 6, 2012 9:13 AM
42	Not at all...except maybe an industrial area only/definitely not near schools	Aug 6, 2012 9:12 AM
43	Food trucks should not be allowed.	Aug 6, 2012 8:38 AM
44	NEVER near schools or in residential neighborhoods	Aug 6, 2012 8:09 AM
45	Food truck owners will figure out the best locations to serve their particular type of food. Food trucks on private property must be with the consent of the property owner.	Aug 6, 2012 6:15 AM

Q8. Where do you think food trucks should be allowed to locate in the City? (May choose more than one.)

72	I think allowing food trucks at a residence for an event is a fine thing, but parking regularly in a neighborhood may not be as welcome. I think general permissiveness is good.	Jul 30, 2012 10:30 AM
73	Anywhere is fine. I do not think they should be allowed to operate near existing operations since they do not have any risk. All the risk is borne by the fixed business.	Jul 29, 2012 5:47 PM
74	food trucks "cheapen" the area they are in	Jul 28, 2012 2:02 PM
75	Permitted or banned areas is a difficult question to answer. Clearly food trucks should be allowed in areas where there is little to no food services available to office workers. I feel food trucks should be allowed near urban parks if no food services exist nearby. However, I think that in more rural locations food trucks would be inappropriate for a park. 78	There should be exceptions to the rules for special events. For example, a sports league that operates a snack shack at a public park wouldn't want a food truck to take away their sales. But if the sports league wanted to contract with some food trucks to come to the park for a special league event (opening ceremonies), that should be allowed through special permit.	Jul 27, 2012 12:45 PM

47	With proper permitting location should not be a limit. My local elementary school used them at a back-to-school night last year, and it was well received because so many parents don't have time to cook AND get to an evening school event without keeping the kids up late. 67	No restrictions necessary.	Aug 22, 2012 4:13 PM
69	I must qualify my response to Residential Areas here: my San Jose neighborhood, the Meadowlands, has begun inviting one food truck to come and set up shop for a monthly food truck night. The neighbors organized this on the Next Door social networking site and everyone loves it. Food trucks should be allowed in residential areas IF the residents want them there (i.e., by invitation). I don't think anyone minds, for example, an ice cream truck driving by, but I recognize that having a food truck parked near one's home for hours could upset some people. Perhaps here is where a time limit would be useful.	Aug 22, 2012 11:38 AM

100	I think fast food should be banned. So, I would be in support of limiting the ability for trucks near children - unless they meet a nutrition guideline. MOST of the trucks serve good healthy food. But some don't.	Aug 8, 2012 7:28 AM
101	Should be a certain distance away from open restaurants(ie, if the restaurant is closed on mon/tues or close early in the day - the food truck should be allowed), but other than that, fully allowed.	Aug 7, 2012 9:02 PM

114	I don't think they should be near schools but would not say they couldn't be on one of the busier streets if they are near a school.	Aug 6, 2012 6:59 AM
115	Food truck owners will figure out the best locations to serve their particular type of food, and those locations should not be restricted by the city. Food trucks on private property must be with the consent of the property owner.	Aug 6, 2012 6:15 AM
116	I cannot think of a situation where they should be broadly prohibited since I can think of scenarios in each of the locations where having a food truck makes great sense -- from a big neighborhood gathering to school events to other large events where someone needs food.	Aug 6, 2012 5:17 AM

138	No restrictions . Actually think in neighborhoods might get neighbors to know each other .	Jul 30, 2012 5:53 PM
139	There is almost never enough parking and space in the areas I have checked above. I like the idea of a venue in the downtown area somewhere for food trucks but I think we need to be mindful of any potential negative impact on downtown restaurants.	Jul 30, 2012 3:13 PM
140	community centers	Jul 30, 2012 1:25 PM
141	I would encourage not having food trucks in areas that are already congested either due to traffic and/or businesses. For example: the Cherry Orchard complex is a horrible place to visit at the best of times due to poor parking lot design, poor access, and high demand. Adding a food truck to that equation would make a bad situation worse.	Jul 30, 2012 1:03 PM
142	Also, not near K-12 schools... it will invite all kinds of people hanging-out, easy for people to kidnap kids etc. It would also entice kids to walk out of schools to go to the food trucks, presumably for junk food. Who will supervise the kids crossing streets etc?	Jul 30, 2012 1:02 PM
143	If they are allowed to operate next to schools, they should be required to have a background check.	Jul 30, 2012 12:59 PM

Q9. Where do you think food trucks should NOT be allowed to locate in the City? (May choose more than one.)

144	Only allow food trucks in residential areas if they have requested and obtained permission from effected residents.	Jul 30, 2012 12:57 PM
145	Areas that would block other businesses or cause traffic problems. Also, odor and noise should be considered.	Jul 30, 2012 12:43 PM

149	public streets & private property need to be restricted & permitted, otherwise they will roam the streets at will.	Jul 30, 2012 11:01 AM

152	Near existing businesses that could lose money from their presence, specifically a food business.	Jul 29, 2012 5:47 PM
153	Currently I think the city should be promoting creating the fabric of downtown, with includes the local restaurants. At this stage of downtown's evolution food trucks would be inappropriate. As for other commercial areas my answer is "it depends." And as for schools, this is a red herring. I think school children are unlikely to appreciate or see the value proposition of the typical food truck's menu.	Jul 27, 2012 9:30 PM
154	none	Jul 27, 2012 4:08 PM
155	None. I don't believe in blanket bans because they can have unintended consequences and prevent legitimate usage. For example if trucks are banned from schools, then those schools are unable to partner with food trucks in mutually-beneficial fundraisers. It's fine if cities want to control when and where food trucks can serve, but bans and prohibitions should be narrowly-defined to avoid collateral overreach.	Jul 27, 2012 3:13 PM
156	There should be exceptions to the rules for special events. For example, a sports league that operates a snack shack at a public park wouldn't want a food truck to take away their sales. But if the sports league wanted to contract with some food trucks to come to the park for a special league event (opening ceremonies), that should be allowed through special permit. 158	we should reserve downtown area for the traditional restaurant.	Jul 27, 2012 8:50 AM
159	Why am I required to choose where food trucks should NOT be allowed to locate in the city? This question is broken, it should offer a "none" option (as should #8).	Jul 27, 2012 8:43 AM

Q9. Where do you think food trucks should NOT be allowed to locate in the City? (May choose more than one.)

161	Can't block view of people turning onto the street.	Jul 25, 2012 6:39 PM

Q10. Any additional comments, suggestions or concerns?

1	I don't think that a food truck blocking a bike lane should be an issue to keep them off of a street. Also, there are too many no stopping / no parking signs in the tech parks in areas where a food truck could park where they would not impede traffic. I wonder if all of these signs were placed as a retaliatory measure to keep food trucks out of these tech parks.	Dec 4, 2012 4:18 PM
2	We need to encourage private enterprise. By regulating businesses out of our cities, we are just continuing our reputation as californians- people who just legislate businesses out of our cities and counties.	Nov 26, 2012 5:29 PM
3	I learned about this survey from a food truck I visited last night, Yummi BBQ, in downtown and they were very friendly and courteous and of course the food was fantastic! Better than most foods you get at restaurants.... so I support these folks tremendously.	Nov 4, 2012 10:35 AM
4	Food trucks are a boon to workers in industrial parks. Many workers do not leave the office for lunch due to traffic.	Oct 30, 2012 8:18 AM
5	I live in San Jose and work in Sunnyvale and enjoy food trucks for a quick convenient lunch at work, I dont see any need to restrict food trucks in industrial/commercial/office areas but I wouldn't want them parking in front of my home in SJ so I can understand restrictions in residential areas. Thanks!	Oct 29, 2012 12:49 PM
6	There are plenty of areas where no food is available, food-trucks is the only option for workers. But I don't want them to kill off small restaurants in the area either. Running restaurant is much more expensive then food truck, and more regulated. So as long as they are not near vicinity of restart should be ok. Also I would prefer not to tempt kids with possibly junky foods in food-trucks, if they are parked next to schools or parks.	Oct 25, 2012 11:52 AM

12	Frankly, I want to open a food truck, so I'm biased. But I have been to many cities that allow them, and the Average Joe loves them. Families love them, and the cities love them too, because they provide a great service and also put money into the city coffers. This is where a basic City permit might be good, but if food truck people pay taxes or pay a small fee per site used, that money goes back to the City to be used for street repairs, neighborhood upgrades, and etc. Its a win-win in any book and on any scale. Q10. Any additional comments, suggestions or concerns?

15	Food trucks will become more popular in the future, so we need some sort of framework to prevent them from exploding to the point where they become a nuisance. Also, we can't let them compete with brick-and-mortar restaurants. They should be focused on neighborhoods that are not well-served by B&M restaurants. Thanks -Andy Frazer	Sep 7, 2012 10:21 AM
16	Support food trucks. As a resident, I'm a fan and would like to see more not less food trucks.	Sep 6, 2012 10:54 PM
17	I regularly eat at trucks for lunch (I work in MV). Trucks are handy in places (like industrial parks) where it's not convenient to get food. They offer more variety than fixed restaurants because there can be different trucks in the same location at different times. They are also a great way to start a small business without the expense of a full restaurant. They should be encouraged. I especially dislike restrictions based on neighboring restaurants: they are anti-competitive. My only concerns are sanitation, noise and crowding (especially at multi-truck events). 1 truck in an industrial park at lunch probably doesn't need any other logistics. Multiple trucks at dinner where people will likely stay to eat will need toilet facilities and probably parking. This should be planned and it is fair to ask the truck owners to pay a reasonable fee for them (just like a restaurant pays for its own bathrooms and parking lot).	Sep 4, 2012 10:49 AM
18	Food trucks add culture to the city. I don't think they're a danger to "brick and mortar" places. They're competition, for sure, but for a different crowd.	Sep 2, 2012 9:23 AM

20	Having food trucks operating in Sunnyvale helps residents that travel far to experience food trucks. I would save on gas and would have a better chance to try different foods. I have to travel to SF to experience food trucks and that doesn't happen often. I usually go when I have a reason to be out there and then I have to alter my trip out there accordingly by location and time. Having trucks in Sunnyvale puts a little ease for a hungry resident any time of the day/week.	Sep 1, 2012 10:48 AM
21	I don't want food trucks to show up where customers would have to park in front of people's houses. However, I know it's hard to determine whether or not a food truck will bring lots of cars, since the following of each food truck is different.	Sep 1, 2012 7:35 AM
22	Food trucks are big right now. People drive out of their normal area's to eat at these events and at certain trucks. It can be good for local businesses. Just be sure they are licensed and clean!	Aug 31, 2012 10:44 AM
23	While I know that regular restaurants don't like the competition from the truck that shouldn't be cause to slap a lot of regulations on them. For my spending, lunch during the work week, they fill a need for fast convenient food. Often I would simply skip lunch due to a lack of time in my schedule.	Aug 31, 2012 10:29 AM

26	Please bring food trucks to Sunnyvale!	Aug 30, 2012 8:33 PM
27	I am more concerned about the decreasing culinary variety in Sunnyvale than I am about food trucks. We are finding ourselves leaving Sunnyvale more often when dining out because there are too many Indian cuisine restaurants here. The city should limit the number of a specific type of and style of food, based on a percentage of total restaurants.	Aug 30, 2012 6:34 PM
28	Food Trucks would be a great addition to the city of Sunnyvale and it's economy. The food trucks also care about community and have already helped different schools raise money to help close the gap where funds ran dry. The city of Sunnyvale is in the heart of Silicon Valley where hi-tech companies are abundant and diverse, but as a self proclaimed "foodie", Sunnyvale is lacking in the abundant and diverse restaurant choices. Because their aren't many food choices in Sunnyvale, I usually go to San Jose.	Aug 30, 2012 3:42 PM

32	The City of Portland, Oregon has food trucks everywhere. Many are in fixed locations called "food pods". Power & sanitation are provided. Control is the key. If they "food trucks" work & receive benefit from our City, we do need control & fees for their use. If not I would ban all trucks.	Aug 30, 2012 12:26 PM

37	Most of my previous answers were from a selfish consumer point of view. I think the city should get some benefit for allowing these businesses to operate within thier boundaries, but I don't have any suggestions as to what metrics to use. If the city wants to try to extract a financial benefit, care should be taken to ensure it is not onerous.	Aug 29, 2012 8:45 AM

46	please have more food trucks!	Aug 28, 2012 2:38 PM
47	As mentioned above I think food trucks should not be allowed to park for hours/many days in a row at the same location. Food trucks are mobile by design and one truck should not be able to stay at the same location on a public street for many hours/many days at a time. I personally do not even think they should be allowed to set-up shop on a public street. If they do, they should be required to pay rent to the city because they are operating on taxpayer paid for streets without any rent.	Aug 28, 2012 2:35 PM restaurant spaces in the Moffett area, so less food trucks are not as needed. This way the City can collect taxes, where they cannot when a food truck is serving them.

61	Newer food truck fare is higher-quality food with a variety of choices being offered by the different trucks. Organized events allow for more trucks to gather and offer a larger selection. Social media provides access to the schedule and menu and allows the gatherings to be a fun way to get a meal or attend an informal social event.	Aug 22, 2012 4:13 PM

63	Look the food truck scene in PDX is delightful. Im pleased that S'vale is looking into providing at least some kind of culture. Right now its devoid of any but big box store madness.	Aug 22, 2012 11:47 AM
64	Whether the topic is food trucks or any other issues facing our communities, I admonish legislators to do their own research before proposing regulations or casting any votes. Grab some lunch at a food truck. Visit Moveable Feast. Talk to the truck owners about their products. They are members of our community, most of whom are driven by the desire to share their love of food with their friends and neighbors. We should support and welcome them. They are building a vibrant new facet of our community that was not there before.	Aug 22, 2012 11:38 AM
65	Please make this happen! I love the concept of multiple food trucks, makes it easy for people to be together even if they have different tastes.	Aug 22, 2012 10:07 AM
66	I fundamentally disagree with the idea that food trucks should be limited to protect existing restaurants. As a consumer, it's my choice to go to a restaurant or buy from a truck and I'm going to choose whoever meets my needs best. It's the market that should decide how many food trucks should be in Sunnyvale, especially if the food trucks are operating on private property.	Aug 22, 2012 9:20 AM
67	get Pollo Fritto!	Aug 22, 2012 8:20 AM
68	Competition is American. Open markets are the American dream, and Food Truck owners are entrepreneurs too. There's one really important thing I'd like to share. I'm sure you've heard from stationary businesses that competition from vendors is "unfair". But this argument doesn't stand up to scrutiny. This argument ignores all of the downsides that come from operating on the street. There are a lot of advantages you have with a physical location that you don't have with a truck, and there are a lot of costs you have with a truck that you don't have with a physical location. Street vendors offer fewer services: Customers are exposed to the weather, have no place to sit, choose from a very limited menu and cannot be served by waitstaff. Entrepreneurs have no guarantee that they will be able to find a good available location. In the winter when its cold and gets dark early, business is bad for trucks. By contrast, brick-and-mortar businesses enjoy a consistent location shielded from the weather, places for customers to sit, and conveniences like bathrooms and cash machines. Additionally, street businesses typically generate a smaller profit margin than brick-and-mortar businesses. Brick-andmortar businesses receive a great deal in return for their higher costs. Their larger investments enable them to offer services vendors cannot. The differences in costs between stationary and mobile businesses simply reflect	Aug 21, 2012 10:08 PM different business models and different entrepreneurs' views on the trade-offs between larger investments and levels of service. It is not clear what is "unfair" about this. Also please consider there is a vitality that comes with food truck gatherings! Ever been to San Louis Obispo on Thursday evening for their Downtown Farmers Market? Every single shop is open til 10 or 11pm. Loaded with customers Tons of street food and all the restaurants are full. Its absolutly amazing. Imagine if we could replicate that on a sleepy weeknight in Sunnyvale!

69	Great food should come anyway	Aug 20, 2012 5:37 PM
70	Food trucks are a great business and it would be beneficial for Sunnyvale residents to be able to experience more of the delicious offerings from some of the better known food trucks.	Aug 19, 2012 11:20 PM
71	Hope to see more food trucks soon.	Aug 18, 2012 5:14 PM
72	Citizens or private businesses should obtain a permit when hiring food trucks for private events within the city.	Aug 17, 2012 1:10 PM
73	In addition to food trucks, food cart pods could be an interesting way to utilize unused space in the city. I experienced them on a recent trip to Portland and think they are great.	Aug 16, 2012 3:26 PM
74	Best in places with lots of foot traffic and adequate nearby parking.	Aug 14, 2012 1:19 PM
75	I found this survey while looking for food trucks in Sunnyvale. Food Trucks would enhance the location of Sunnyvale for those of us who work here.	Aug 14, 2012 1:11 PM
76	I think more lunch trucks would allow for increased diversity in food options for the cities residents.	Aug 13, 2012 7:12 PM
77	Shade is nice some of these like off the grid have coverings which is great as it can be hot when you have children waiting in line.	Aug 13, 2012 6:25 PM
78	Food trucks must be made to provide all related trash services for their products, including pick up and haul-away of garbage from their selling events. All too often, the city gets stuck with this type of trash clean up or else overflowing trash cans are left as is so that vermin flock to them.	Aug 13, 2012 4:37 PM
79	Thanks for soliciting resident and worker opinions on this!	Aug 13, 2012 1:26 PM
80	Bring more food trucks to Sunnyvale without a hassle to the small business owner	Aug 13, 2012 12:03 PM
81	Eliminate most food trucks.	Aug 12, 2012 8:41 PM
82	Sunnyvale should look and consider to make a place like soma street food park in San Francisco. This can be use as a tourist attraction too.	Aug 12, 2012 7:20 AM
83	Food trucks should have at least the same rules and regulations as restaurants concerning location, hours of operation, and food safety. I am in favor of allowing food trucks at special events that are held in a location where they would not compete with local restaurants.	Aug 11, 2012 3:03 PM

Q10. Any additional comments, suggestions or concerns?

84	this was a great survey. I love that Sunnyvale is taking a proscribe approach to this and reaching out to the public for feedback. kudos to the city council.	Aug 10, 2012 8:21 PM
85	Several food trucks have gone on to start permanent locations (restaurants) when they do well, if Sunnyvale is open to the food trucks, they may become a permanent part of the community.	Aug 10, 2012 12:37 PM
86	Been visiting food truck occasionally over the past few years and have found it to be an overall positive experience.	Aug 10, 2012 9:03 AM
87	Food trucks are a great resource and a great opportunity for chefs who otherwise wouldn't be able to operate.	Aug 10, 2012 8:45 AM
88	Again, as you continue to communicate on this issue, please help clarify the permit conditions/standards under consideration.	Aug 10, 2012 7:46 AM
89	Gourmet food trucks (not the roach coach ones) have absolutely raised the bar in food offerings around town. We usually head out to ones near our work location and it makes for a nice change of pace. Operators usually don't frequent an area too often as it doesn't appear to benefit them. I would directly survey food truck vendors like Sams Chowder Mobile (MY FAVORITE!) and make sure any rules work well with them also. If you put up too many barriers, they will easily just go down the street to mountain view, Santa Clara and Los Altos and have Sunnyvale out of the picture.	Aug 9, 2012 7:36 PM
90	There is a high bar and a low bar in this industry. "Food Trucks" can represent the worst or the best of the street food business. The quality of the food, the appearance of the trucks, etc., should be thoughtfully considered. Other cities have been able to do this quite successfully, creating whole new scenes (cool, fun) in what were run down neighborhoods, vacant lots, etc. Sunnyvale should study the best of what other cities have done and identify how they encouraged a food movement, rather than a free for all.	Aug 9, 2012 5:39 PM
91	Do not create more bureaucracy for these mobile merchants. Let them operate as they have been. I think they are responsible in how they operate and generally follow street ordinances and laws. They already pay taxes, business license fees, and take food safety sanitation classes/inspections.	Aug 9, 2012 2:48 PM
92	Lets get Sunnyvale in the forefront of this. Could be a good way to get people into our town for shopping, etc...	Aug 9, 2012 12:28 PM
93	Food trucks rock!	Aug 8, 2012 1:34 PM
94	Food trucks are a lifesaver, as there are very few options for lunch in office areas.	Aug 8, 2012 11:20 AM
95	The food trucks are extremely convenient for work sites. It offers alternatives and an option to eat for those that may not be able to get away and grab some lunch. People will still frequent the restaurants/food providers in the area as you don't always want the food the trucks may offer that day. It allows more variety for everyone.	Aug 8, 2012 9:10 AM
96	Food trucks are a great add to the city, a great perk for those of us who work	Aug 8, 2012 8:55 AM here. Adds diversity to what we can eat, and for those of us in high-tech parks without restaurants in walking distance, a well placed food truck is a good "standard of working" benefit. With the growing popularity and quality of food trucks, it would be a shame if Sunnyvale became "food truck unfriendly"

Q10. Any additional comments, suggestions or concerns?

97	It would be a major disappointment and reduction in quality of life if the trucks were limited from office areas in any significant way.	Aug 8, 2012 8:38 AM
98	As long as they are held to the same health and sanitation standards as other food service businesses, Food Trucks should be allowed to operate wherever there is adequate demand for them.	Aug 8, 2012 8:08 AM
99	Please, when looking to determine what to do remember that businesses in the area depend on the trucks to service and provide benefits to thier employees. The trucks also meet a culinary need. The industry needs them, and we as employers need them too.	Aug 8, 2012 7:28 AM
100	As long as they are safe, operate without significant environmental impact, are not a nuisance, and pay taxes, food trucks should be embraced in Sunnyvale.	Aug 7, 2012 3:55 PM
101	I think food trucks can inspire our local restaurants to be better by offering healthy competition. If a restaurant is good (Dish Dash, for example), it has nothing to worry about. If a restaurant is not great, perhaps the presence of food truck competition will drive them to improve.	Aug 7, 2012 2:47 PM
102	Food trucks are a nice benefit in corporate environments that don't already have on-site cafe/catering. They bring variety of food options and don't require employees driving to lunch and adding yet more cars on the road.	Aug 7, 2012 11:13 AM
103	The food truck renaissance provides more options and more employment for people who live and/or work in Sunnyvale. Choice is better than no choice, so I support the trucks even if I don't buy food from them frequently.	Aug 7, 2012 11:11 AM
104	These food vendors are a great resource to me and give me more lunch choices. I like working in the Silicon Valley and to me, this is a nice feature of working here.	Aug 7, 2012 9:27 AM
105	Food trucks provide an invaluable service to those of us who commute to work using public transportation to offices far from places to eat.	Aug 7, 2012 9:24 AM
106	We love our food trucks - it would be nice to see the city work with the vendors, which often promotes locals and local food. I don't feel it takes away from other businesses, but provides some healthy competition. Food trucks are creative and change their menu all the time. Maybe other restaurants who feel threatened, should start doing the same.	Aug 7, 2012 7:52 AM
107	Food trucks also add vibrancy and create places for people to gather, which Sunnyvale desperately needs.	Aug 7, 2012 7:16 AM
108	no arbitrary rules.	Aug 7, 2012 6:48 AM
109	Hurry up and allow food trucks, else everyone will be leaving Sunnyvale to eat elsewhere!	Aug 7, 2012 12:01 AM

Q10. Any additional comments, suggestions or concerns?

110	What do neighboring cities such as San Jose, Santa Clara, and San Francisco do? It may be worth adopting similar rules.	Aug 6, 2012 6:27 PM
111	Nope.	Aug 6, 2012 4:50 PM
112	Food trucks take business away from our local merchants. They are unsightly and aesthetically displeasing. It is totally unnecessary and the City should be spending time and money on more important issues.	Aug 6, 2012 2:52 PM
113	We need to stop adding to regulations and bureaucracy, as we are spending too much money running the city already.	Aug 6, 2012 1:12 PM
114	Who then will be the food police????will you hire another dept. to oversee this new money making scheme by the city council.	Aug 6, 2012 9:12 AM
115	They are a threat to public health due to food safety issues and they are unsightly.	Aug 6, 2012 8:38 AM
116	I think this is a great way to support small business owners....food trucks have GREAT food without going to a restaurant.	Aug 6, 2012 7:56 AM
117	The large food truck events would be a wonderful addition to the city.	Aug 6, 2012 6:59 AM
118	Food trucks are frequently family-owned, providing jobs not only for family members but others they may need to employ if their truck proves popular. Let the market decide where the trucks should be, and do not allow economic protectionism (e.g., protecting existing restaurants) be a reason to prevent food truck competition.	Aug 6, 2012 6:15 AM
119	Food trucks are very handy but it is important to make sure they are safe and not a nuisance. I don't recall any particular situation of them being a significant nuisance in Sunnyvale.	Aug 6, 2012 5:17 AM
120	I have two favorite food trucks that I visit in San Jose from time to time. I've never had any problems with the food, and it's fun to look forward to eating from a vendor and then shopping at the businesses nearby.	Aug 5, 2012 9:08 PM
121	I can't think of any right now. I would like to buy ethnic food and a greater variety of food "on-the-go" than I can currently find at Whole Foods hot bar, where I go currently.	Aug 5, 2012 8:50 PM
122	I do have concerns about trucks being allowed to park on the side of our busier streets (ECR, Wolfe, etc.) as parking/purchasing/eating may be more dangerous in those areas. Parking in private parking lots off these streets would seem like a safer alternative for these high traffic areas.	Aug 5, 2012 8:44 PM
123	I could not reply in the text box of #9, but I would NOT want them in residential areas!! This is a great idea to request input this way. I hadn't thought about all of the different issues and considerations of this until I took the survey. Thank you!!	Aug 5, 2012 1:48 PM
124	Thanks for doing the survey! I encourage more surveys of this type in the future.	Aug 5, 2012 2:29 AM
125	Stop trying to control every aspect of life.	Aug 4, 2012 10:17 AM

Q10. Any additional comments, suggestions or concerns?

126	concerned that there is not enough variety being offered to residents of sunnyvale	Aug 3, 2012 11:12 PM
127	Does this include ice cream trucks?	Aug 3, 2012 2:06 PM
128	Open Sunnyvale to food trucks, add restrictions as necessary OR use another city's model that is successful.	Aug 3, 2012 9:46 AM
129	I think taco trucks can add a valuable service to people who want a freshly prepared meal who don't have the time to go to a full service resataurant. I think there is a place for both taco trucks and full service restaurants in Sunnyvale as they serve different needs.	Aug 3, 2012 9:28 AM
130	As a food truck owner/operator we are very willing to work with the city of Sunnyvale. Also we'd like to make sure that there is a good relationship with local businesses. Open dialog is best and we like that you are looking into how to work with trucks. Eat On Monday.	Aug 2, 2012 12:25 PM
131	They should not stay in the same place over and over.	Aug 2, 2012 11:10 AM
132	I love lunch trucks. They bring gourmet food to me instead of me going to them. Its a convenience factor. Don't have to go that far. Walk out the doors and there's food. Don't have to jump in my car and drive.	Jul 31, 2012 11:32 PM
133	Ensure that Trucks are responsible for having a worker care and handle the outside of the truck, the maintainance of the truck perimeter. Have trash cans near by and do areas checking for trash to prevent trash and pigeons or birds folking to dropped or unwanted foods. Have trucks guarantee their products. Customers should be refunded if not satisfied with their food, since restaurants provide this service, trucks should also. they should be held accountable for their product.	Jul 31, 2012 10:31 PM
134	Food trucks should not be allowed to sell drugs including alcohol and tobacco.	Jul 31, 2012 2:48 PM
135	i am looking forward to visiting some new food trucks in our city!	Jul 31, 2012 7:38 AM
136	Publish results of this survey & keep us informed.	Jul 31, 2012 6:30 AM
137	There some really fabulous new food trucks out there. I had CurryUpNow last week and it was fabulous. It was Indian food, but it was a much different spin on it than you find in the restaurants around here so I don't feel it directly competed with them.	Jul 31, 2012 2:26 AM
138	They are great for meeting others, and for a quick meal. But the intense foot traffic can be a problem so planning and permitting is important.	Jul 30, 2012 11:02 PM
139	My friends and I love food trucks. Thank you for considering allowing them to become a bigger part of our community.	Jul 30, 2012 9:15 PM
140	Portland and other cities have some parking lots in the downtown that are packed with "movable" (semi-permanent) food trailers in the business districts, and they are cherished by both workers & residents. This is in addition to large food trucks.	Jul 30, 2012 6:15 PM

Q10. Any additional comments, suggestions or concerns?

141	Again, don't allow them. You will be just be making more people lazy AND the streets will get littered.	Jul 30, 2012 5:58 PM
142	I am not in favor of food trucks in our community. What about brick & mortar restaurants? Unfair competition!	Jul 30, 2012 5:26 PM
143	As long as the trucks meet health standards, they should be given relative freedom to sell their wares in the city.	Jul 30, 2012 4:22 PM
144	We do not need to over regulate.	Jul 30, 2012 3:33 PM
145	Please move this porcess as quickly as possible so we can enjoy food trucks as other cities have for years!	Jul 30, 2012 3:13 PM
146	In general, I'm not a fan of food truck for many reasons. I've listed some above, but also the "food safety" issues too.	Jul 30, 2012 1:25 PM
147	One of the pros regarding Food trucks is that, since they operate by word-of-mouth/twitter, they live and die by their reputation. As such, they are, to an extent, self regulating.	Jul 30, 2012 1:03 PM
148	Food trucks should be regulated and licensed. If people fall sick after eating at a food truck, we should be able to track down whose truck it is, and how/why people got sick.	Jul 30, 2012 1:02 PM
149	I'm excited about the prospect- I think if a food truck is to be in private property- obviously they'd need permission . Not thrilled about the idea of locations in residential neighborhoods or by schools unless it is a preplanned and understood event. thanks for doing this!	Jul 30, 2012 12:52 PM
150	These trucks are a great new way to try different cuisines. They also encourage small businesses which is vital to Sunnyvale. For many of us, its also a resource for good food choices and affordability.	Jul 30, 2012 12:43 PM
151	Please limit the number of food trucks. While some are unique, their mobile nature does not contribute to the stability and high standards that brick and mortar restaurants do... On another note, PLEASE STOP THE FOOD STREET VENDORS with Carts that have become much more popular recently.. Do they have any type of permit or requiemnts regarding their operation. In addition , I have seen a lot more 'transient ' fruit sellers and flower sellers and toy sellers set up on city streets or in parking lots. I do not support this for the same reason as above. Please have Sunnyvale have standards and permits and reviews for all types of businesses that do not have the overhead and the oversight of the City. THank you for thi s survey.	Jul 30, 2012 12:03 PM
152	Brick and mortar restaurants should compete with food trucks based on quality and variety of their food, service and atmosphere, not by attempting to block competition. The only restrictions that should be considered are public safety (traffic and the like).	Jul 30, 2012 11:08 AM
153	I am glad you are addressing this issue. Also consider how many trucks can the health department reasonably inspect in a gtven year when you consider your limits.	Jul 30, 2012 11:01 AM

Q10. Any additional comments, suggestions or concerns?

154	Bring food trucks and food truck events to Sunnyvale!!	Jul 30, 2012 10:44 AM
155	A regular food truck gathering would be a great new revenue stream for the city based on permit fees. It also keeps employees in the area for dinner and then perhaps shopping afterwards. It helps keep Sunnyvale a 'hip' city Exposes new food businesses to the possibilities a permanent business in Sunnyvale would bring.	Jul 30, 2012 10:41 AM
156	I read an article about Chicago dealing with this problem. Should study what they did. Take lead from other cities such as New York that have death with the problem.	Jul 30, 2012 10:40 AM
157	I purchase my food sometimes at food trucks, I for the food truck idea. But I wanna make sure they dont park in downtown, where there are many small restaraunt and hurt their business in this struggling economy.	Jul 30, 2012 10:39 AM
158	These food trucks sometimes sell bad food. I had stomach upset once and I stopped eating at such places. We must ensure the food is clean, and not just allow them because the price is cheap.	Jul 30, 2012 10:28 AM
159	Locations and time limits should be regulated. They might be different regulations for special events. Health, safety and proper refuse disposal important.	Jul 30, 2012 10:14 AM
160	The permits and fees should be very high for food trucks. I don't think there should be any real limitations to where they can go or for how long as long as it is a minimum distance from an existing food business....even 2000 feet would be ok.	Jul 29, 2012 5:47 PM
161	They are an eye sore they take away customers that go to brick and mortar restaurants keep them out of Sunnyvale Thanx	Jul 28, 2012 2:02 PM
162	Overall, I would encourage the City to take a more liberal position toward food trucks. I think they promote creativity in food and that should be encouraged. There may be the added benefit of supporting more brick and mortar restaurants in Sunnyvale, since it's generally recognized that food trucks are the low bar to entry to restaurant concepts, and the logical next step for successful owners would be a conventional restaurant.	Jul 27, 2012 9:30 PM
163	Dont let our city be behind the curve or limit a great new and innovative food service industry please	Jul 27, 2012 4:59 PM
164	It's wonderful to see the great City of Sunnyvale giving careful consideration to the ever-growing mobile food movement! I'm doing my best to spread the word to make sure you get as much quality feedback as possible. I have a podcast and website about food trucks in Silicon Valley. It's http://foodtrucknerd.com/ . I run it purely as a hobby. I'm a big fan of gourmet food trucks and have become friendly with owners and employees, but I don't have any financial interest in food trucks. I live in San Jose, work in Milpitas, and have traveled all over the Bay Area to visit food trucks and food truck events. I will follow your progress with interest and participate as much as I can. I was a vocal opponent of AB 1678, the since-dropped 2012 CA Assembly Bill which would have banned mobile food vendors from schools. I refer you to my commentary on that topic as	Jul 27, 2012 3:13 PM

you might find parts of it relevant with regards to what kinds of regulations make sense, and the procedural mistakes that were made in crafting that legislation without sufficient stakeholder input. <http://foodtrucknerd.com/ab1678/> -Bill Moore bill@foodtrucknerd.com <http://foodtrucknerd.com/>

165	I hope a fair decision can be made for all.	Jul 27, 2012 2:26 PM
166	Need strict requirement for trash/litter removal. I've been to some food truck gatherings that aren't great about cleaning up.	Jul 27, 2012 2:20 PM
167	we love food trucks	Jul 27, 2012 8:50 AM
168	The examples given for what a food truck is show a certain antiquated view. This is how AB1678 got as far as it did, because people have no idea what a "food truck" actually is if it is described as an ice cream truck, and immediately conjure "Roach Coach" imagery on mention of "taco truck." Not to diminish either of those, but they are loaded terms and skew the discussion from the getgo.	Jul 27, 2012 8:43 AM
169	They do not pay property tax and therefore should not be able to do business near property tax paying locations. They could drive bricks and mortar locations out of the city causing reduced income from sales tax and property tax.	Jul 26, 2012 10:14 AM
170	For permitting requirements, make sure it's not anything too difficult like an ongoing count of food trucks - that would be tough to track. - This is Diana, by the way.	Jul 26, 2012 8:27 AM
171	Don't limit the number of trucks or permits. It should be enough to require a permit to see if the location and number are OK on a case-by-case basis.	Jul 26, 2012 7:53 AM
172	I'm glad you're working on this. I also appreciate that it is done online with anytime access, as I'm currently traveling in Japan, but still able to participate at a time of my choosing.	Jul 26, 2012 4:08 AM
173	I think that people really enjoy the food truck experience but I think they should be regulated and required to register or lease space instead of just coming on to a private property of their choice.	Jul 25, 2012 7:35 PM
174	We need food trucks!!! During these times, we need to encourage a variety of food choices, and support local businesses.	Jul 25, 2012 6:39 PM
