

Acting

Movement Based Acting Camp $10 (7 – 17 years)

Acting uses your whole body! This process-oriented camp employs Anna Halprin's Tamalpa Life-Art technique, similar to method acting, to help young actors discover and convey a character's emotions. Class incorporates expressive movements, meditative centering, acting exercises, drawing, word play and other creative activities. First-time performers welcome. Wear comfortable clothes. Bring water bottle and snack that does not need to be refrigerated.

Instructor: Hao Expression

Movement Based Acting Camp

Musical Theater Camp (7 – 14 years)

Let's put on a show! Campers experience all the fun and camaraderie of being involved in a musical theater show, from auditions through applause. Campers build confidence and practice teamwork skills through singing, dancing and acting. This camp is great for both experienced performers and first-timers. Students must have completed second grade. Wear comfortable clothes and tennis shoes or jazz dance shoes. Bring water and snack that does not need to be refrigerated.

Instructor: Amy Zsadanyi

School for Faeries Camp $30 (5 – 10 years)

At Madame Amelia's School for Faeries, draw upon the magic within to spread beauty and kindness. Create faerie costumes and transform the classroom into a fanciful place for singing, crafting, composing poetry and journaling. Class concludes with a potluck tea. Each camper may invite one guest to tea. Please bring water to drink and a healthy snack.

Visual Arts Camp

Visual Arts Camp $30 (6 – 9 years)

Make your own imaginative pictures, collages and three-dimensional creations with hours of creative fun! Using a variety of media, you can explore outer space, Monet’s garden, Van Gogh’s “Starry Night” and nature’s coral reefs. See how mathematics and nature join forces to create patterns in pinecones, leaves, flowers, shells and snowflakes. Bring a snack and a smock.

Business and STEM Camps

Youth Start Up Camps

Campers need an email account to save and share their work. Two computers are available for campers to share, but they are welcome to bring their own computer with wireless capability. Coding camps offer breaks that include physical activity.

Half-Day/Full-Day Extended Care Option

For families looking for a full day of activities, pair morning and afternoon Youth Start Up camps together. Full-Day includes morning themed camp, afternoon themed camp and supervision during the hour lunch break (bring sack lunch). Half-day campers are expected to be picked up promptly at 12 p.m., or dropped off no earlier than 1 p.m.

App Design Camp (9 – 13 years)

Learn the basics of app design and programming that give campers the tools to create simple, publishable apps. Campers are introduced to JavaScript code that is embeddable in their app design. Daily assignments are given to be completed in class, culminating in the final project of designing their own app. Previous examples included pet dating, fortune telling and traveling apps.

Business Plan Camp (9 – 13 years)

At this educational camp, campers are grouped into teams to build a startup from idea to launch. Guided by trained instructors, teams brainstorm and collaborate both new as well as pre-meditated ideas. As the week progresses, teams will prepare a proposal that they will pitch on the final day to compete for the best overall business plan. Previous business plans include a non-profit exchange and a gift box service app.

Game Design Camp (9 – 13 years)

An introduction to coding and game building, campers use drag and drop modules to build games, which can be converted to real code. Campers learn by building modular games and have fun playing their own games. The instructors show the code that is “under the hood,” teaching the basics of logic and programming that make their games customizable.

Idea Generation Camp (9 – 13 years)

A fun Maker camp that introduces business concepts. While working in teams, students learn basics of brainstorming, innovation, evaluation and intellectual property rights. Teams compete in best designs for multiple challenge projects using material from class and simple every-day items from home. Previous competitions include a startup that designs jewelry, duct tape creations, Artist Robot, Rube Goldberg machines, etc. The last hour of last day of camp is a show and tell where teams demo their ideas and get feedback.

Business and STEM Camps

Idea Presentation Camp (9 – 13 years)

An introduction to business concepts, students learn the basics of creativity, communication, marketing and research in teams at this educational camp. Teams are given one or more marketplace challenges, which include writing a product brochure, creating a commercial and building a website. On the final day, campers present their ideas in a show and tell to compete for the best product introduction. Previous presentations include a marketplace for t-shirts and a computer game.

Python Coding Camp (9 – 13 years)

Python is a powerful but simple language used by data scientists that is relatively easy to learn. Campers learn basic computer programming logic that is applicable to Python and other programming languages. Daily assignments are given to be completed in class, culminating in a final project written in Python.

Sciensational Workshop for Kids Camps – Half-Day/Full-Day Extended Care Option

For families looking for a full day of activities, pair morning and afternoon Sciensational Workshops for Kids camps together. For full-day campers, please send bottled water and peanut free-lunch and snacks each day. Half-day participants are expected to be picked up promptly at 12 p.m., or dropped off no earlier than 1 p.m.

Advanced Robotics Camp (7 – 12 years)

In this workshop campers put their imagination and skills to the challenge. Working in small groups, campers build different robotic creatures and vehicles. They will be tested for speed, strength and endurance. Tires, motors, gears, wires and controllers are used to move these robots across the floor. After making trial runs, teams can modify their designs to increase their robot's capabilities before it is tested for speed, strength and endurance in sumo battles, tug-of-war contests and time/distance tests. The robots built in this camp are not taken home. They are taken apart, so components can be reused to build yet another robotic creation.

All Terrain Tracker Vehicle Camp (7 – 12 years)

How about some land rover excitement? Campers build and take home their very own All-Terrain Tracker Vehicle! It travels the rough terrain overcoming objects in its path. Test your vehicle on an obstacle course that includes sand, stones, twigs and balls. Compete against other robots in a timed race. Campers work in a group with new friends to design a robot they can control. Build a Sumo wrestler robot, and be part of our battle box events.

Amazing 4 in 1 Robot Camp (6 – 11 years)

Campers gain confidence and self-esteem as they discover how to build their own interchangeable robot to take home with four unique robot modes: Cricket, Beast, Trailer and Grandpa-Bot. Other camp activities include having fun building a wide range of additional robotic designs with the Robotic Building System. Campers will conduct Sumo wrestling matches, races and much more. Note: Robots built in this portion of the workshop are not taken home. Have fun, learn, and have hands on experience the Sciensational way!

Electronic Lab Workshop Camp (7 – 12 years)

Campers build 30 different projects with an electronic kit they get to keep in this hands-on camp. The Science Electronics Lab will stimulate campers' minds by using easy to understand experiments to increase their knowledge of electronics as they build each project while working with electronic circuits. Plus, the electronic kit is reusable, so campers can continue to have fun designing their own projects. Campers can work at their own pace and are grouped by appropriate age.

Magnetic Levitation for the Future Camp (7 – 12 years)

Campers build their own futuristic magnetic levitation (maglev) car to race and take home. In 1999, a Japanese five-car maglev train set a record of 345 miles/hour. In this camp, campers don't go that fast, but they have fun building and learning about the relationship between magnetism and electricity through building a simple maglev track, as well as a cool electromagnet. Then campers build and take home the world's simplest motor as well as their own compass and other magnetic activities in a fun Scisensational way.

Make It and Take It Home Camp

Make It and Take It Home Camp (6 – 11 years)

In this hands-on camp, campers discover how amazing science is. Activities include growing a crystal tree, building an electric motor, making glowing silly putty and creating green flubber. In addition, campers learn about chemistry, creating their own Sharpie marker T-shirt and energy bead bracelet that turn from white to a rainbow of colors before their eyes. Campers end the week making ice cream in a different Scisensational way! Must bring a white, 100 percent cotton T-shirt.

Model Airplanes, Bridges and Electronics Camp

Model Airplanes, Bridges and Electronics Camp (7 – 12)

Airplanes, bridges and gadgets are the focus of this engineering and electronics camp. Campers explore aerospace education by building a rubber-powered model airplane that really flies. Next, campers have a blast learning about simple bridge engineering, as they design and build model bridges. Their knowledge is put to the test in a fun contest to see which bridge can hold the most weight. Finally, campers learn about different electronic components, as they build six electronic gadget projects including a patrol car siren, burglar alarm and Morse code transmitter.

Space Nine Robots Camp (7 – 12 years)

Be part of robot technology and have fun investigating the future effects that it will have on our lives. Campers build the Space Nine Infra-Red Robot, an eight-legged star explorer controlled by an infrared remote transmitter to take home. Learn how to control its moves and turns, walk on tough surfaces, turn left and right, do a little dance and even cross over rocks. Being able to control the robot with its fancy moves, campers gain self-confidence, learn how different gears mesh and are driven by a motor. Campers also build other robots working in small groups, have tug-of-war events and operate robots to do certain tasks.
