Our Classes Build 41 Developmental Assets

Sunnyvale's Department of Library and Community Services is proud to incorporate the 41 Developmental Assets into our youth programs. Developmental assets, sometimes called "building blocks for success," are positive values, relationships, skills and experiences that help children and teens thrive. Young people with high asset levels are most likely to make healthy choices and develop into successful adults, while those with low asset levels are more likely to get involved with negative or risky behaviors. The YMCA of Silicon Valley's Project Cornerstone has identified the 41 Developmental Assets for youth and spearheads a coalition of schools and community organizations – including the City of Sunnyvale – that promote the Developmental Assets through our programs and activities. Together we can improve young people's readiness for life after high school, including college and career choices – and it all starts as early as preschool.

Look for this symbol  in our Activity Guide or visit:

<http://sunnyvale.ca.gov/Departments/CommunityServices/41Assets.aspx> to learn more about how Sunnyvale's youth programs support this important initiative and how you can help. The full list of 41 Developmental Assets can be found online at www.projectcornerstone.org.

Sunnyvale's Teen Advisory Committee (TAC) is a great example of a program that incorporates several of the 41 Assets. During a recent team building activity at the Sunnyvale Baylands Park Ropes Course, TAC members modeled Asset #15, Positive Peer Influence, setting responsible examples for one another and encouraging the achievement of personal goals. During the school year, TAC members also demonstrate Asset #8, Youth as Resources, and Asset #9, Service to Others, as they plan fun activities and community service projects.
