

Frequently Asked Questions Regarding Accessing the Sunnyvale Activity Guide on issuu

How can I get the latest Activity Guide on issuu?

Using any web browser with Flash enabled, click on a link to the issuu version of the Activity Guide. You can also find the Guide by going to issuu.com and searching for Sunnyvale. Our publisher name is City of Sunnyvale. All our current publications are listed. To be notified whenever we publish a new Activity Guide, click the green “Follow” button. You can create an account on issuu, or use your existing Facebook, Google+ or LinkedIn account.

How do I navigate in the issuu version of the Activity Guide?

Use the arrows to the left and right of the page(s) to turn the page. The issuu Activity Guide has active links to take you directly to our registration pages and pages on the Sunnyvale web site. Hover your cursor over the item of interest. If there is a link embedded, a pale blue box will appear around the section, with blue icons appear at the bottom of the box. Click the link icon to go directly to registration or to the web page referenced.

How can I share something in the issuu version of the Guide with a friend?

Hover your cursor over the item of interest. If we have included it as part of one of our clips, a pale blue box will appear around the section, with blue icons appear at the bottom of the box. When the three blue icons appear, click the arrow button to clip and forward that section. You can email the clipped item or share directly to Facebook, Google+, Twitter, LinkedIn, Pinterest or Tumblr. If you create a free issuu account, you will also be able to clip your own items, using the cropping tool.

How can I print pages?

There is currently no way to print individual pages directly from issuu. If you create an issuu account, you can download the entire Activity Guide PDF to your computer and print whichever pages you wish. Without an account, the easiest way to print pages is from the PDFs located on our own website, <http://sunnyvale.ca.gov/Departments/CommunityServices/ClassesandActivities.aspx>.
