Silicon Valley Mayor's 2017 Outlook

The Silicon Valley Business Journal is holding its annual Economic Forecast event on Thursday February 9th . This will be a lunch event at a location to be secured shortly.

This year – instead of the usual format of a keynote and panel - we wanted to allow the event attendees (and readers) to hear directly from the mayors of Silicon Valley's key cities:

Santa Clara, San Jose, Sunnyvale and Mountain View.

The format would include some introductory remarks from the SVJ and a key sponsor.

This would be followed by each mayor being provided up to 20 minutes each to articulate their individual perspective and outlook on the valley for 2017.

Topics might include:

- How will recent elections affect Silicon Valley and your city in particular?
- Transportation issues and recent initiatives
- Housing
- Business retention and growth
- Employment issues and workforce development
- What does 2017 look like for your city and Silicon Valley .. and what's the prognosis for the next 3 to 5 years?
