LEARN HOW TO ATTRACT BIRDS TO YOUR GARDEN

SUNNYVALE, Calif. – Would you like to see more birds in your backyard? Then join us Thursday, July 29, 7 p.m., at Sunnyvale Public Library, for “Attracting Birds to Your Garden.” Toby Goldberg from the Santa Clara Valley Audubon Society and Arvind Kumar from the California Native Plant Society will discuss creating a bird-friendly backyard habitat, and introduce common backyard visitors and the plants most likely to attract them.

Toby Goldberg is the education and volunteer program coordinator for the Santa Clara Valley Audubon Society. She has a B.S. in Biology from Stanford University and an M.A. in ecology from the University of California, Santa Barbara. Goldberg’s work experience has spanned many continents and taxa in the general field of conservation biology and ecology.

Kumar is on the board of the California Native Plant Society. He serves on the steering committees of the Going Native Garden Tour and the Gardening with the Natives group. He writes the Gardening Green column for the *Loma Prieta*n, the newsletter of the local Sierra Club chapter.

The Library is located at 665 W. Olive Ave., across from City Hall. Free parking is always available, and VTA line 54 serves the Library.
